Customs and Fashions in Old New England Alice Morse Earle, 2017-10-09 From the hour when the Puritan baby opened his eyes in bleak New England he had a Spartan struggle for life In summer time he fared comparatively well but in winter the ill heated houses of the colonists gave to him a most chilling and benumbing welcome Within the great open fireplace when fairly scorched in the face by the glowing flames of the roaring wood fire he might be bathed and dressed and he might be cuddled and nursed in warmth and comfort but all his baby hours could not be spent in the ingleside and were he carried four feet away from the chimney on a raw winter's day he found in his new home a temperature that would make a modern infant scream with indignant discomfort or lie stupefied with cold Nor was he permitted even in the first dismal days of his life to stay peacefully within doors On the Sunday following his birth he was carried to the meeting house to be baptized When we consider the chill and gloom of those unheated freezing churches growing colder and damper and deadlier with every wintry blast we wonder that grown persons even could bear the exposure Still more do we marvel that tender babes ever lived through their cruel winter christenings when it is recorded that the ice had to be broken in the christening bowl In villages and towns where the houses were all clustered around the meeting house the baby Puritans did not have to be carried far to be baptized but in country parishes where the dwelling houses were widely scattered it might be truthfully recorded of many a chrisom child Died of being baptized One cruel parson believed in and practised infant immersion fairly a Puritan torture until his own child nearly lost its life thereby      The Quarterly Review William Gifford, Sir John Taylor Coleridge, John Gibson Lockhart, Whitwell Elwin, William Macpherson, William Smith, John Murray, George Walter Prothero, 1896      The American Family in the Colonial Period Arthur W.
