Cyborgs & Citadels Gary Lee Downey, Joseph Dumit, 1997 A special section titled Corridor Talk offers essential and hard to find advice on careers publication opportunities and grant writing for scholars of emerging sciences technologies and medicines

Cyborgs & Citadels Gary Lee Downey, Joseph Dumit, 1997 Some of the country's most influential thinkers use anthropological methods and theories to examine the practices and practitioners of contemporary science technology and medicine in the United States The authors explore such questions as how science gains authority to direct truth practices the boundaries between humans and machines and how science technology and medicine contribute to the fashioning of selves

Situated Intervention Teun Zuiderent-Jerak, 2015-08-28 An exploration of sociological research that is neither detached nor engaged a new approach to sociological knowledge production with examples from health care In this book Teun Zuiderent Jerak considers how the direct involvement of social scientists in the practices they study can lead to the production of sociological knowledge Neither detached sociological scholarship nor engaged social science this new approach to sociological research brings together two activities often viewed as belonging to different realms intervening in practices and furthering scholarly understanding of them Just as the natural sciences benefited from broadening their scholarship from theorizing to experiment so too could the social sciences Additionally Zuiderent Jerak points out rather than proceeding from a pre set normative agenda scholarly intervention allows for the experimental production of normativity Scholars are far from detached but still may be surprised by the normative outcomes of the interactions within the experiment Zuiderent Jerak illustrates situated intervention research with a series of examples drawn from health care Among the topics addressed are patient compliance in hemophilia home care the organization of oncology care and the value of situated standardization the relationship between standardization and patient centeredness the development of patient centered pathways value driven and savings driven approaches to the construction of health care markets and multiple ontologies of safety in care for older adults Finally returning to the question of normativity in sociological research Zuiderent Jerak proposes an ethics of specificity according to which research adapts its sociological responses to the practices studied Sociology not only has more to offer to the practices it studies it also has more to learn from them

Picturing Personhood Joseph Dumit, 2021-09-14 By showing us the human brain at work PET positron emission tomography scans are subtly and sometimes not so subtly transforming how we think about our minds Picturing Personhood follows this remarkable and expensive technology from the laboratory into the world and back It examines how PET scans are created and how they are being called on to answer myriad questions with far reaching implications Is depression an observable brain disease Are criminals insane Do men and women think differently Is rationality a function of the brain Based on interviews media analysis and participant observation at research labs and conferences Joseph Dumit analyzes how assumptions designed into and read out of the experimental process reinforce specific notions about human nature Such assumptions can enter the process at any turn from selecting subjects and mathematical models to deciding which images to publish and how to color them Once they leave the laboratory PET scans shape social debates influence courtroom outcomes and have positive and negative consequences for people suffering mental illness Dumit follows this complex story demonstrating how brain scans as scientific objects contribute to our increasing social dependence on scientific authority The first book to examine the cultural ramifications of brain imaging technology Picturing Personhood is an unprecedented study that will influence both cultural studies and the growing field of science and technology studies Plural Medicine, Tradition and Modernity, 1800-2000 Waltraud Ernst, 2002-11-01 Research into colonial or imperial medicine has made considerable progress in recent years whilst the study of what is usually referred to as indigenous or folk medicine in colonized societies has received much less attention This book redresses the balance by bringing together current critical research into medical pluralism during the last two centuries It includes a rich selection of historical anthropological and sociological case studies that cover many different parts of the globe ranging from New Zealand to Africa China South Asia Europe and the USA Breast Cancer Genes and the Gendering of Knowledge Sahra Gibbon, 2006-12-14 The book examines the social and cultural context of new genetic knowledge associated with breast cancer It looks at how this knowledge and technologies are used and received in two contrasting social arenas cancer genetic clinics and a breast cancer research charity The Cyborg Turn James A. Inman, 1999 Anthropology and Humanism, 2007 Disciplinary Styles in the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning Mary Taylor Huber, Sherwyn P. Morreale, 2002 Will the scholarship of teaching and learning find its home with other pedagogical discussions on the margins of most disciplines Or will it be registered and legitimated within the heart of the disciplines themselves In response to an orienting essay raising such questions scholars from 10 disciplines describe the evolution of discourse about teaching and learning in their field the ways in which their discipline s style of discourse influences inquiry into teaching and learning and the nature and role of intellectual exchange across disciplines around such inquiry Whatever the future of the scholarship of teaching and learning it will no longer be mostly a matter of parallel play In presenting the sounds and silences of these 10 disciplines to a polyglot audience this volume s contributors seek to help develop a common language for trading ideas enlarging our pedagogical imaginations and strengthening our scholarly work Desire for Profit Jennifer Renee Fishman, 2003 International Encyclopedia of the Social & Behavioral Sciences Neil J.
