Doha And Beyond The Future Of The Multilateral Trading System:

Doha and Beyond Mike Moore, 2004-02-26 Publisher Description Making Global Trade Governance Work for Development Carolyn Deere Birkbeck, 2011-08-18 Discussion of the governance of global trade and the multilateral trading system is too often dominated by developed country scholars and opinion makers with inadequate attention given to developing country perspectives Making Global Trade Governance Work for Development gathers a diversity of developing country views on how to improve the governance of global trade and the WTO to better advance sustainable development and respond to the needs of developing countries With contributions by senior scholars commentators and practitioners the essays combine new empirically grounded research with practical insights about the trade policy making process They consider the specific governance issues of interest to developing countries and acknowledge the changing dynamics in the global economy and in trade decision making Trade, Doha, and Development Richard S. Newfarmer, 2006 The role of trade in promoting international development is becoming increasingly important in our globalised world and the global trading system has the potential to help the world s poor if trading inequities can be remedied This publication examines the key trade issues relevant to the ongoing multilateral trade negotiations and the evolution of the world trading system as a means to address barriers to growth in developing countries focusing on the Doha Round Issues discussed include potential gains from trade liberalisation for developed and developing countries reforming trade in agriculture as a key to the success of the Doha Round markets for manufacturing and services trade facilitation TRIPs and the regulatory agenda the role of regional trade agreements and issues of aid for trade in order to help low income countries develop the infrastructure needed to participate in the global economy and benefit from new market opportunities South African Foreign Policy Review: Volume 1 , 2012 South African Foreign Policy Review: Volume 1 Chris Landsberg, Jo-Ansie van Wyk, 2012-12-27 The richness of public and academic discourses on the past present and future direction of South Africas role in Africa and the world suggests that as a sub discipline of politics South African foreign policy is ready for a systematic and regular appraisal in the form of a series of publications that the Institute for Global Dialogue will call South African Foreign Policy Review This is also because constant changes in international and domestic circumstances impinge on the management and analysis of South Africas foreign policy This the first review provides an important opportunity to build on existing foreign policy works in order to take stock of the road already travelled in the past decade or so This is crucial in laying some basis for anticipating the countrys future role and considering the opportunities and challenges which future volumes of the review will consider This volume provides a wide ranging appraisal of the relationship between stated foreign policy goals and actual outputs and outcomes an assessment of how foreign policy has actually been operationalized and implemented To this end common themes in South African foreign policy provide the framework for the first review These include foreign policy decision making soft power dynamics in the foreign policys strategic calculus diplomatic tools used economic diplomacy

peace diplomacy and paradiplomacy South Africa's relations with key states in Africa in the global south and in the global north South Africa's approach to Africa multilateral global multilateralism governance The review hopes to stimulate further discussion and thinking on the challenges confronted and the future shape and direction of South Africa's foreign policy

Reforming the World Trading System Ernst-Ulrich Petersmann, James Harrison, 2005 The 1994 agreement establishing the World Trade Organization WTO regulates over 95% of world trade amongst 148 member countries The November 2001 Declaration of the Fourth Ministerial Conference of the WTO in Doha Qatar has launched the Doha Development Round of multilateral trade negotiations in the WTO on 21 topics aimed at far reaching reforms of the world trading system On August 1st 2004 the WTO General Council reached agreement on a detailed Doha Work program with the aim of concluding negotiations in 2006 This volume provides discussion and policy recommendations by leading WTO negotiators and policy makers and analysis by leading economists political scientists and trade lawyers on the major subjects of the Doha Round negotiations Over 30 contributors explore the complexity of the world trading system and of the WTO negotiations for its reform from diverse political economic and legal perspectives The Future of the Multilateral Trading System Akira

Kotera, Ichirō Araki, Tsuyoshi Kawase, 2009 OECD Forum 2007 Forum Highlights OECD, 2007-10-02 The Journal of World Investment & Trade, 2007 Emory International Law Review, 2004 Global Political Economy Theodore H. Cohn, 2008 Praised for its authoritative coverage of theory and history Global Political Economy places the study of IPE in the broadest global context Written by one of the field's leading scholars this text helps students understand the fundamental importance of international political economy and make sense of current events in the global economy Its three areas of focus globalization North North relations and North South relations encourage students to connect theory and history with practice explore domestic and international economic interactions and examine the critical relationship between economic and security issues The Future of Global Economic Governance Marek Rewizorski, Karina

Jędrzejowska, Anna Wróbel, 2020-01-29 In light of new global challenges for international cooperation and coordination such as the revival of protectionism surge of populism or energy related issues this volume highlights possible scenarios for the future of Global Economic Governance GEG The contributing authors analyze the substance of GEG as a normative framework for resolving collective action issues and promoting cross border coordination and cooperation in the provision or exchange of goods money services and technical expertise in the world economy Furthermore the book examines drivers of fundamental shifts in global economic steering and covers topics such as power and authority shifts in the global governance architecture technological and energy related challenges and the role of the G20 and BRICS in shaping global economic governance This book provides a very timely and nuanced account of the challenges facing the established global order Andrew F Cooper Professor of Political Science at the University of Waterloo This valuable collection from a new generation of innovative scholars of global economic governance offers insights from a broad range of theoretical approaches
