Chalk Lines Randy Martin, 1998 An expanded edition of SOCIAL TEXT 51 which examines the current situation of academic labor in the United States How the University Works Marc Bousquet, Cary Nelson, 2008-01-01 Uncovers the labor exploitation occurring in universities across the country As much as we think we know about the modern university very little has been said about what it s like to work there Instead of the high wage high profit world of knowledge work most campus employees including the vast majority of faculty really work in the low wage low profit sphere of the service economy Tenure track positions are at an all time low with adjuncts and graduate students teaching the majority of courses This super exploited corps of disposable workers commonly earn fewer than 16 000 annually without benefits teaching as many as eight classes per year Even undergraduates are being exploited as a low cost disposable workforce Marc Bousquet a major figure in the academic labor movement exposes the seamy underbelly of higher education a world where faculty graduate students and undergraduates work long hours for fast food wages Assessing the costs of higher education s corporatization on faculty and students at every level How the University Works is urgent reading for anyone interested in the fate of the university

Technology and the Politics of Instruction Jan Nesper, 2006 In this study of computer mediated instruction CMI in a U S research university that is the site of nationally known innovations in this area Jan Nesper traces the varying material and organizational entanglements of a constantly reconfiguring network of people things categories and ideas that are sometimes loosely sometimes tightly entangled in forms of CMI He unfolds how the different forms and meanings of CMI policy and practice were constructed over time across departments and in relation to students academic trajectories Tying together a range of issues usually separated in discussions of instructional technology and examining often slighted topics such as the articulations of local and national practices this book questions the common vocabulary for making sense of CMI and contributes to educational change theory by showing how CMI has evolved both from the top down and the bottom up Technology and the Politics of Instruction is distinctive in its multi level approach and in the breadth of its conceptual frame Departing from the mainstream research on instructional technology to focus on mundane and widespread forms of CMI PowerPoint slides CD ROMs self paced labs and the like Nesper views these from multiple standpoints not just what they mean for professors but also for administrators and students The effect is to displace the typical emphasis in CMI research from cutting edge high resource artifacts and systems the importance of which is not questioned to the politics and organizational processes that shape the uses of such things This book is intended primarily for scholars and students in the fields of educational and more broadly organizational change the politics and sociology of education curriculum theory higher education and educational administration and will also interest instructional technologists and technology developers

Decentering Music Kevin Korsyn, 2003-03-06 As a work of cultural criticism that recalls the concerns of Foucault Hayden White Zizek and others Decentering Music examines the struggle for the authority to speak about music at a time when the humanities are in crisis By linking the institutions that support musical research including professional associations and universities to complex historical changes such as globalization and the commodification of knowledge Korsyn undertakes a critique of musical scholarship as an institutional discourse while contributing to a general theory of disciplinary structures that goes beyond the limits of any single field In asking a number of fundamental questions about the models through which disciplinary objects in music are constructed Korsyn suggests unexpected relationships between works of musical scholarship and the cultural networks in which they participate Thus David Lewin's theory of musical perceptions is compared to Richard Rorty's concept of the liberal ironist Susan McClary's feminist narrative of music history is juxtaposed with T S Eliot's dissociation of sensibility and Steven Feld's work in recording the music of the Kaluli people is compared to the treatment of ambient sound in contemporary cinema Developing a framework for interpretation in dialogue with a number of poststructuralist writers Korsyn goes far beyond applying their thought to the analysis of music by showing the cultural dilemmas to which their work responds Korsyn suggests how musical research already participates in these ideas Rather than impose any single method Decentering Music empowers readers to choose for themselves by interrogating their own values and ideological commitments exploring the enabling conditions for statements about music By demonstrating the complicity of opposing positions and challenging readers to reexamine their own values Decentering Music will surely provoke debate while appealing to readers in a variety of fields and to anyone concerned about the crisis in the humanities
