Challenge To Care In Schools An Alternative Approach To Education:

The Challenge to Care in Schools, 2nd Edition Nel Noddings, 2015-04-26 After a decade of educational reforms The Challenge to Care in Schools is even more relevant now than when it was first published In her new Introduction Nel Noddings revisits her seminal book and places care as central to current debates on standardization accountability privatization and the continuous struggle between traditional and progressive methods of education Rather than forcing one side to yield to the other this book advocates an alternative responsive system that will allow the best ideas to flourish In the Second Edition Noddings once again envisions a school system built on the idea that different people have different strengths and that these strengths should be cultivated in an environment of caring not of competition She suggests that if we make the responsiveness characteristic of caring more basic than accountability we can accommodate both traditional and progressive preferences in one school system to the benefit of all especially the children Chapters address the practical and theoretical questions involved in organizing traditional and nontraditional areas of study around themes of care Introductory chapters focus on caring in general and on the problems of liberal education while the final chapter offers sound advice for implementing a caring curriculum in our schools Praise for the First Edition A welcome addition to the often fragmented discussion of what children need and what school and education should be Harvard Educational Review I recommend this book to all concerned about education personally and or professionally Journal of Moral Education In the morass of school reform that calls for such changes as national standards improved assessments and new ways of organizing schooling Noddings provides lucid thinking about the priorities we ought to consider Teachers College Record

The Challenge to Care in Schools Nel Noddings, 1992-01-01 This book challenges the traditional organization of high school studies around the academic disciplines Noddings argues that such emphasis shortchanges not only the noncollege bound whose interests are almost ignored but even those who are preparing for college The latter receive schooling for the head but little for the heart and soul Noddings counteracts this condition insisting that our aim should be to encourage the growth of competent caring loving and lovable persons a moral priority that our educational system ignores She argues that liberal education dictates what areas of pedagogy are socially acceptable ignoring a student's wider range of abilities and undervalues skills attitudes and capacities traditionally associated with women Contrarily it is precisely the competence for caring Noddings posits that will prepare our students for the environment of the school the world of work the realm of ideas and ultimately for each other

Critical Voices in Science Education Research Jesse Bazzul,Christina Siry,2019-01-23 This book is a collection of narratives from a diverse array of science education researchers that elucidate some of the difficulties of becoming a science education researcher and or science teacher educator with the hope that through solidarity commonality and telling the story justice oriented science education researchers will feel more supported in their own journeys Being a scholar and teacher that sees science education as a space for justice and thinking being different entry into this disciplinary field often comes with tense moments and personal difficulties The chapter authors of this book break into many painful awkward and seemingly nebulous topics including the intersectional nuances of what it means to be a researcher in the contexts of epistemic rigidity white supremacy and neoliberal restructuring Of course these contexts become different depending on how teachers students and researchers are constituted within them as racialized sexed gendered disposable valued subjects We hope that within these narratives readers will identify with similar struggles in terms of what it means to desire to do good in the world while facing subtle and not so subtle institutional personal cultural and political challenges

Care in Sport Coaching Colum Cronin,Kathleen Armour,2018-07-27 While it is accepted that sport coaches should safeguard participants Care in Sport Coaching Pedagogical Cases argues that coaches have a duty of care that moves beyond protection and involves the development of caring relationships with athletes Recent high profile incidents of abuse in sport highlight the need to reposition coaching as a caring activity and to embed care within coach education and coaching policy Based around extended case studies this book provides grounded accounts of how coaches care in their everyday practice These case studies are analysed using multidisciplinary theoretical perspectives to illustrate and problematise how coaches care Conclusions are provided based on these analyses that will help coach educators researchers and policy makers establish care as a key facet of everyday sport coaching activities Additionally the book offers guidelines that will aid practitioners to enact care in their practice This is important reading for coaches researchers lecturers and students who are concerned with the role of coaches and the development of coaching practice

Pedagogies of Kindness and Respect Paul Lee Thomas,2015 Pedagogies of Kindness and Respect presents a wide variety of concepts from scholars and practitioners who discuss pedagogies of kindness an alternative to the no excuses ideology now dominating the way that children are raised and educated in the U S today The fields of education and especially early childhood education include some histories and perspectives that treat those who are younger with kindness and respect This book demonstrates an informed awareness of this history and the ways that old and new ideas can counter current conditions that are harmful to both those who are younger and those who are older while avoiding the reconstitution of the romantic innocent child who needs to be saved by more advanced adults Two interpretations of the upbringing of children are investigated and challenged one suggesting that the poor do not know how to raise their children and thus need help while the other looks at those who are privileged and therefore know how to nurture their young These opposing views have been discussed and problematized for more than thirty years Pedagogies of Kindness and Respect investigates the issue of why this circumstance has continued and even worsened today Fear, Authority, and the Struggle to Care Audrey Joy Appelsies,2006 Developmental Physical Education for All Children David L.
