Change Forces - The Sequel Michael G. Fullan, 2005-08-02 A follow up to the best selling Change Forces will appeal to a wide range of classroom teachers school administrators student teachers and academics Change Forces Michael Fullan, 1999 Moral purpose and complexity Complexity and the change process The deep meaning of inside collaboration The deep meaning of outside collaboration The complexities of transferability Intellectual political and spiritual fusion

Implementing Education Policies Jonathan D. Jansen, Yusuf Sayed, 2001 For the first time in South Africa a critical dialogue has been recorded between government policy makers and academic researchers on the subject of education policy and practice Implementing education policies attends to problems politics and possibilities of implementing the policy goals of the first post apartheid government established in 1994 The value of this book lies in several insider accounts of the policy process told through the voices of the legislators politicians and bureaucrats concerned with steering national value commitments through the education system Running parallel to these practitioner accounts lie a number of critical analyses of the technical capabilities and political designs that explain the trajectory of education reform in the 1990s The dialogue brings together in a developing country context different experiences and analyses of one of the most intractable problems facing all national education systems the persistent gap between policy ideals and practical realities This volume is essential reading for all academics and students of education at higher education institutions as well as teachers researchers and policy makers Enduring Themes in Educational Change David A. Escobar Arcay, 2017-03-16 Potential and novice graduate students researchers educators and reformers may find themselves bewildered and perplexed by the vast changes in public education They may just want to briefly know the core concepts They may also need to use the language in order to be able to articulate its major issues Whatever the case the work of authorities in the field of educational change facilitates the conceptual landscape that can enable one's entry into the fundamental concepts that sustain this flourishing field Here is a close and descriptive reading of some of the foundational works of one of these authorities in the field of educational change the Canadian scholar and theorist of educational change Michael Fullan who has certainly helped many make sense of the complexity of the educational change process David A Escobar Arcay offers here a brief but substantive description of the multiple themes and issues located within a particular and limited time period of the corpus of this authority in the hopes of engaging in an introductory manner the exciting and ever expanding and unfolding field of educational change Read it and be equipped to engage in the ongoing and larger discussions about the change process and its core participants theories and issues ENC Focus, 2000 New Horizons in Mathematics and Science Education, 2001 What We Now Know about Jewish Education Roberta Louis Goodman, Paul A. Flexner, Linda Dale Bloomberg, 2008 When What We Know about Jewish Education was first published in 1992 Stuart Kelman recognized that knowledge and understanding would greatly enhance the ability of professionals and lay leaders to address the many challenges facing Jewish education With increased innovation the entry of new funders and the connection between Jewish education and the quality of Jewish life research and evaluation have become over the last two decades an integral part of decision making planning programming and funding

Engaging and Changing Higher Education Through Brokerage Norman Jackson, 2018-01-12 This title was first published in 2003 During the 1990s UK higher education was transformed through the full panoply of levers available to government legislation funding to encourage expansion and change regulation and a national review As we enter the 21st century new organizational agents acting as brokers are emerging as important facilitators of systemic change The central argument in this book is that brokering is a process that facilitates change at all levels of the education system and enables UK higher education to be more adaptive and responsive to society and the global marketplace The educational broker is a facilitator who connects people networks organizations and resources to support change The process is key to creating new innovative capacities involving partnerships that are now required of a socially attuned and continuously adaptive mass system The educational brokerage role also includes activities that might be associated with the business world where the broker is an agent promoter dealer or trader or the political world where the broker is a diplomat mediator and negotiator There has been little recognition description or analysis of brokerage which is essential to the rapid development and utilization of knowledge in a large complex diverse multipurpose and autonomous HE system These new capacities offer exciting possibilities for advancing UK HE and for gaining competitive advantage This volume provides through a series of organizational case studies important new insights into the ways in which change is being brokered by national bodies like the Learning and Teaching Support Network University for Industry the e university and the Quality Assurance Agency It also provides an overview of the international scene to show that UK higher education is leading the world in this approach to the development of a higher education system Online Information Services in the Social Sciences Neil Jacobs, Lesly

Huxley, 2004-05-31 Summary This book shows how best practice in delivering online information services should be based on actual user needs and behaviour A series of case studies provide real life examples of how social science information is being used in the community The book then draws on these case studies to outline the main issues facing service providers such as usability metadata and management The book concludes with a look to the future and how both technological and organisational changes will shape online information services Key features 1 Case studies show how information science issues relate to users behaviour 2 The book is written by experts in the field with each chapter drawing on both case studies and extensive experience in the field 3 The book can be used as a detailed reference or an overview The authors The contributors to the book are based at the Institute for Learning and Research Technology University of Bristol UK Readership The book is aimed at anyone providing an online service to those using social science information including information officers librarians and knowledge managers together with related IT managers and students of LIS at undergraduate and postgraduate level Contents Section 1 case studies describing how information is used in the health government academic trades union media and other sectors with particular attention to online information practices Section 2 drawing the lessons from the case studies Section 3 the major issues facing service providers including selection metadata usability accessibility management and building user skills Section 4 the future covering both technological developments such as the semantic web and portals and organisational issues such as the changing role of the info

The Changing Nature of the Academic Deanship Mimi Wolverton, 2001-04-19 Who are academic deans and what do they do What challenges do they face and what strategies do they use to meet these challenges What can universities do to help them become more effective Newly appointed academic deans often find themselves in key leadership roles with strained fiscal resources external accountability pressures dizzying technology and system demands and a rapidly shifting student demographic Previous training and experience as faculty is often not enough to prepare academic deans for surmounting these challenges Authors Mimi Wolverton Walter H Gmelch Joni Montex and Charles T Neils draw from their own experiences in higher education and their research at the Center for Academic Leadership at Washington State University to examine the evolving role of the academic dean and the profound external changes which are affecting the nature of deanship They present six specific strategies to meet the persistent challenges in funding diversity issues legal concerns technology demands ethical practices and achieving the balance between the personal and professional They also address the university's role in furthering the leadership abilities of its academic deans and examine successful practices in selection socialization development and evaluation Offering an effective strategy that moves deans as managers of day to day operations to deans as leaders of a dynamic environment this book is a valuable resource for academic deans at any stage of their career

School Improvement Zijian Li, Michael Williams, 2006 School improvement is at the centre of educational reform and is perceived by many as a key to social and economic advance It contributes to determining the personal fulfilment and career paths of individual students and consequently engages the interest of parents and community members It is an ever present commitment of teachers and managers in schools Policy makers and politicians at international national and local levels devote much time and effort to their search for better schools School improvement has also attracted the attention of researchers and scholars in many countries They have been drawn from various disciplines and fields within the educational studies community including psychology sociology history evaluation and studies in curriculum and assessment There is now an established body of findings from studies conducted in many contexts This book brings together leading experts drawn from many countries and several continents reflecting diverse approaches to educational policy and practice evaluation and research Variations between countries and between local communities within countries are highlighted The possibilities and difficulties inherent in transferring evidence from one educational system at a number of levels to another are clearly discussed What emerges from the cross national and cross cultural evidence are several significant threads currently under active investigation including school structure and management classroom organisation school leadership teacher training and staff development
