Fruhauf, Dan Mahoney, 2010 This book addresses contemporary experiences and health issues facing older GLBT individuals families and communities This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of GLBT Family Studies Restructuring Family Policies Maureen Baker, 2006 Recent years have seen significant changes in the social policies of many liberal welfare states this is especially true of social programs for families with children Increasingly governments are making family policy trade offs reducing support for some families but improving it for others Why are such trade offs occurring and how do governments differ in their approach to family social policy This study addresses these questions by examining the political demographic and socio economic factors influencing the restructuring of family related programs in OECD countries Adopting a feminist political economy approach Maureen Baker shows that while some governments encourage their citizens to see children as future resources and promote strong support for reproductive health programs child welfare services women's refuges subsidized childcare and pay equity others make these claims while simultaneously reducing family incomes through the deregulation of labour markets and restrictions on income support Ultimately Baker demonstrates that nation states with the best outcomes for families offer a variety of social supports which are increasingly important as global markets reduce economic security for some families while improving the financial situation of others This study also explores strategies employed by states to incorporate or resist international pressures and the reasons why some states tenaciously defend their family policy traditions while others restructure according to international guidelines Drawing from nation based research cross national studies and international data bases Restructuring Family Policies successfully integrates mainstream academic debates about restructuring welfare states with feminist research findings and current policy concerns Housing in Northern Ireland Chris Paris,2001 Marriage, a History Stephanie Coontz,2005 Just when the clamor over traditional marriage couldn t get any louder along comes this groundbreaking book to ask What tradition In Marriage a History historian and marriage expert Stephanie Coontz takes readers from the marital intrigues of ancient Babylon to the torments of Victorian lovers to demonstrate how recent the idea of marrying for love is and how absurd it would have seemed to most of our ancestors It was when marriage moved into the emotional sphere in the nineteenth century she argues that it suffered as an institution just as it began to thrive as a personal relationship This enlightening and hugely entertaining book brings intelligence perspective and wit to today s marital debate

Victor,2002 This edited volume addresses the methodological challenges entailed in studying the process of ageing and life course changes as well as the experience of being old The book focuses on the theory and practice of doing research using a wide range of examples and case studies

Families in Society Linda McKie,Sarah Cunningham-Burley,Jo Campling,2005 Acknowledging the increasing diversity and complexity of families this innovative book proposes a new conceptual framework for understanding families and other relationships that both challenges and attempts to reconcile traditional and contemporary approaches Using the notion of boundaries the book shifts thinking from families as entities to families as relationship processes Emphasising the processes that underlie boundary construction and reconstruction suggests that the key to understanding family life is the process of relationship formation The ideas of entity boundary margins and hybridity provide a framework for understanding the diverse and often contradictory ways in which families contribute to society Families in society makes a significant contribution to the academic literature on families and is essential reading for social science students social researchers policy makers and practitioners interested in families and relationships Sociology,2001 Globalization, Value Change, and Generations P. Ester,Michael Braun,Peter Ph Mohler,2006 This book provides insights in and explanations of the varieties and similarities in values in Europe in a number of life spheres at the turn of the millennium Modern Love Marcus Collins,2003 Drawing on social economic and political history this volume explains how relations have changed between men and women in Britain in the 20th century It shows how men and women s expectations from life have radically shifted and converged describing how we have moved from inhabiting our separate spheres with wholly different prospects and values towards the ideal if not quite the actuality of equality mutuality companionship and friendship This text also shows how progressive ideas about the
