Changing Social Geography of Canadian Cities Larry S. Bourne, David Ley, 1993 The contributors to this volume demonstrate the richness and diversity of the social landscapes and communities in Canadian urban centres emphasizing changes which occurred in the period from the mid 1960s to the early 1990s The nineteen non technical and integrative essays include reviews of the literature empirical studies and discussions of policy issues CONTENTS Introduction The Social Context and Diversity of Urban Canada David F Ley and Larry S Bourne Part One Patterns People and Place in Urban Canada Evolving Urban Landscapes D W Holdsworth Measuring the Social Ecology of Cities W K D Davies and R A Murdie Demography Living Arrangement and Residential Geography J R Miron Urban Social Behaviour in Time and Space D G Janelle Part Two Contexts Social Structure and Urban Space Migration Mobility and Population Redistribution E G Moore and M W Rosenberg The Emerging Ethnocultural Mosaic S H Olson and A L Kobayashi Work Labour Markets and Households in Transition D Rose and P Villeneuve Housing Markets Community Development and Neighbourhood Change Larry S Bourne and T Bunting Part Three Places Selected Locales Integrating Production and Consumption Industry Class Ethnicity and the Jews of Toronto D Hiebert Past Elites and Present Gentry Neighbourhoods of Privilege in the Inner City David F Ley From Periphery to Centre The Changing Geography of the Suburbs L J Evenden and G E Walker The Social Geography of Small Towns J C Everitt and A M Gill Part Four Needs Social Well being and Public Policy Social Planning and the Welfare State J T Lemon The Meaning of Home Home Ownership and Public Policy R Harris and G J Pratt Homelessness M J Dear and J Wolch Geography of Urban Health S M Taylor Changing Access to Public and Private Services Non family Childcare S Mackenzie and M Truelove Cities as a Social Responsibility Planning and Urban Form P J Smith and P W Moore

Canadian Cities in Transition Trudi E. Bunting, Pierre Filion, 2000 Canadian Cities in Transition brings together newly commissioned articles in order to provide a detailed overview of recent trends affecting Canadian cities and future policy implications these trends will have on Canadian cities Aimed at students studying urban geography and focusing specifically on the Canadian city it provides the most current research available Divided into five sections national perspectives regional perspectives intra urban perspectives urban functions and social issues and the public sector the book covers a wide range of subjects Starting with the Canadian city in the global context and urbanization in historical perspective it concludes with an examination of issues such as the inner city housing the urban retail landscape and planning and development The second edition is a significant revision from the first with numerous new articles new contributors and a much more closely linked editorial structure The new second edition includes more emphasis on planning on the environment and on urban design as well as more information on the contemporary social and economic transformations which are affecting society as a whole and echoed in cities A Social Geography of Canada James Wreford Watson, 1988 Social Issues and Contradictions tool for understanding the struggle faced by both the city and its new residents which will bring clarity to a subject that has historically been fraught with divergent views SAGE Secondary Data Analysis John Goodwin, 2012-07-23 One central and enduring image of the social science researcher is of an individual who commits a great deal of time to collecting original primary data from a field of enquiry This approach is often underpinned by a sincerely held belief that key research questions can only be explored by the collection of ever new and ever greater amounts of data or that already existing data are insufficient for researchers to test their ideas Yet such an approach to social science research can be problematic not least because the collection of primary data can be an expensive time consuming and even wasteful approach to social enquiry Secondary analysis can serve many purposes as well as being a valid approach in its own right However despite its widespread application secondary analysis is often undervalued or perceived to be the preserve of only those interested in the re use of large scale survey data Highlighting both the theory and practice of secondary analysis and the use of secondary sources this collection considers the nature of secondary analysis as a research tool reflects on the definitional debates surrounding terms such as secondary analysis data re use and restudies illustrates how secondary analysis is used in social science research and finally reviews the practical methodological and ethical aspects of secondary analysis Volume One Using Secondary Sources and Secondary Analysis Volume Two Quantitative Approaches to Secondary Analysis Volume Three Qualitative Data and Research in Secondary Analysis Volume Four Ethical Methodological and Practical Issues in Secondary Analysis Himalayan Quality of Life Benjamin L. Saitluanga, 2017-04-18 The book is a study of intra urban inequality in quality of life QOL in Aizawl city The main objectives of the study include analysis of processes and patterns of social differentiation along the three dimensional space of Aizawl city as well as analysis of spatial inequality in QOL at the lowest administrative structure of the city An investigation into spatial pattern of residential differentiation was done at both horizontal and vertical spaces Spatial variation in well being of residents of Aizawl city and the quality of their immediate environment was also studied by taking both objective and subjective indicators The study employed a number of descriptive inferential and multivariate statistical techniques including correlation factor analysis principal component analysis cluster analysis and spatial autocorrelation methods like Moran's I and Local Indicators of Spatial Association LISA Mapping techniques and graphical methods like Choropleth map histogram and line graph were also used With the help of factor analysis the social space of Aizawl city was found to be differentiated along socio economic status family status household size status workers status and ethnic status The most important factor determining residential differentiation was socio economic status Choropleth map of factor scores reveals that the inner city localities were dominated by high socio economic class while poorer people dominated the peripheries Non local ethnic minorities were few but concentrated in some adjoining peripheral localities as well as in inner city localities which have been inhabited by their ancestors since the colonial period Vertical pattern of residential differentiation was also analyzed by taking income variable as a proxy of socio economic status

Multi storey buildings in Aizawl city were co inhabited by both richer people and poorer people The richer people were found at the top floors while the poorer people occupied the basement floors Normally the owners of the buildings were found at the top floors while the basement floors were dominated by the renters Spatial variation in QOL was measured with the help of principal component analysis as a weighting technique by taking variables pertaining to both objective and subjective QOL dimensions The values of composite QOL index showed that the central localities have scored better than their peripheral counterparts Correlation analysis of the relationship between objective indicators and subjective indicators provided a low positive value indicating the absence of relationship between the two dimensions of quality of life Spatial autocorrelation analysis was also performed to see the pattern of clustering of spatially weighted QOL variables across Local Councils With the help of Global Moran s I spatial clusters and spatial outliers were observed for objective dimension of QOL within the study area The value of Moran s I was found to be insignificant for subjective QOL dimension indicating the absence of significant pattern of clustering The study also identified 7 social areas of Aizawl city on the basis of factor scores and composite scores of QOL variables calculated for all Local Councils The identification of clusters was taken out with the help of hierarchical clustering method of cluster analysis These clusters were labeled appropriate names and their characteristics were described in detail The thesis concluded with recommendation of designating these social areas as social development planning zones for obtaining inclusive development

Creeping Conformity Richard Harris,2004-01-01 Creeping Conformity the first history of suburbanization in Canada provides a geographical perspective both physical and social on Canada s suburban past Shaped by internal and external migration decentralization of employment and increased use of the streetcar and then the automobile the rise of the suburb held great social promise reflecting the aspirations of Canadian families for more domestic space and home ownership After 1945 however the suburbs became stereotyped as generic physically standardized and socially conformist places By 1960 they had grown further away physically and culturally from their respective parent cities and brought unanticipated social and environmental consequences Government intervention also played a key role encouraging mortgage indebtedness amortization and building and subdivision regulations to become the suburban norm Suburban homes became less affordable and more standardized and for the first time Canadian commentators began to speak disdainfully of the suburbs or simply suburbia Creeping Conformity traces how these perceptions emerged to reflect a new suburban reality
