Chanter Mestuet Songs Of Thetrouveres:

Courtly Love Songs of Medieval France Mary O'Neill, 2006-01-12 This book is the first full length study of the courtly love songs of the trouv re to address the central musical problems of the repertoire as a whole embracing source studies interpretation historiography and analysis The argument of the book revolves around three axes each of which is essential to the appreciation of the others problems concerning the extant manuscript tradition the crucial role of orality and stylistic changes and plurality in the reperotire For the first time a full overview of the sources and notation is undertaken This reveals the idiosyncrasies of individual manuscripts but more importantly it identifies two basic phases in the manuscript tradition The study of melodic variants reveals the performance art that lies at the heart of the courtly grand chant processes and techniques of variation are examined bringing us to a closer understanding of the tenets of the melodic art of the early trouv res A close study of select trouv res from the different generation reveals stylstic change and plurality particularly in the melodic art which in some respects was less prescribed than the poetic texts Consequently the courtly songs of the trouv res truly come alive in this book

Gender and Voice in Medieval French Literature and Song Rachel May Golden, Katherine Kong, 2021-10-12 This volume brings together literary and musical compositions of medieval France identifying the use of voice in these works as a way of articulating gendered identities

Poetry and Music in Medieval France Ardis Butterfield, 2002 In Poetry and Music in Medieval France first published in 2003 Ardis Butterfield examines vernacular song in medieval France She begins with the moment when French song first survives in writing in the early thirteenth century and examines a large corpus of works which combine elements of narrative and song as well as a range of genres which cross between different musical and literary categories Emphasising the cosmopolitan artistic milieu of Arras Butterfield describes the wide range of contexts in which secular songs were quoted and copied including narrative romances satires and love poems She uses manuscript evidence to shed light on medieval perceptions of how music and poetry were composed and interpreted The volume is well illustrated to demonstrate the rich visual culture of medieval French writing and music This interdisciplinary study will be of interest to both literary and musical scholars of late medieval culture

Performance and the Middle English Romance Linda Marie Zaerr, 2012 An examination of if and how medieval romance was performed uniquely uniting the perspective of a scholar and practitioner Although English medieval minstrels performed gestes a genre closely related to romance often playing the harp or the fiddle the question of if and how Middle English romance was performed has been hotly debated Here the performance tradition is explored by combining textual historical and musicological scholarship with practical experience from a noted musician Using previously unrecognised evidence the author reconstructs a realistic model of minstrel performance showing how a simple melody can interact with the text and vice versa She argues that elements in Middle English romance which may seem simplistic or repetitive may in fact be incomplete as missing an integral musical dimension metrical irregularities for example may be relics of sophisticated rhythmic variation that make sense only with music Overall the study offers both a more accurate comprehension of minstrel performance and a deeper appreciation of the romances themselves Linda Marie Zaerr is Professor of Medieval Studies at Boise State University The French Review James Frederick Mason,Hélène Harvitt,1983 Arts & Humanities Citation Index ,2001 Chanter m'estuet Samuel N.
