Marc Chagall Jonathan Wilson, 2007-03-13 Part of the Jewish Encounter series Novelist and critic Jonathan Wilson clears away the sentimental mists surrounding an artist whose career spanned two world wars the Russian Revolution the Holocaust and the birth of the State of Israel Marc Chagall's work addresses these transforming events but his ambivalence about his role as a Jewish artist adds an intriguing wrinkle to common assumptions about his life Drawn to sacred subject matter Chagall remains defiantly secular in outlook determined to narrate the miraculous and tragic events of the Jewish past he frequently chooses Jesus as a symbol of martyrdom and sacrifice Wilson brilliantly demonstrates how Marc Chagall's life constitutes a grand canvas on which much of twentieth-century Jewish history is vividly portrayed Chagall left Belorussia for Paris in 1910 at the dawn of modernism looking back dreamily on the world he abandoned After his marriage to Bella Rosenfeld in 1915 he moved to Petrograd but eventually returned to Paris after a stint as a Soviet commissar for art Fleeing Paris steps ahead of the Nazis Chagall arrived in New York in 1941 Drawn to Israel but not enough to live there Chagall grappled endlessly with both a nostalgic attachment to a vanished past and the magnetic pull of an uninhibited secular present Wilson's portrait of Chagall is altogether more historical more political and edgier than conventional wisdom would have us believe showing us how Chagall is the emblematic Jewish artist of the twentieth century Visit nextbook.org/chagall for a virtual museum of Chagall images

Chagall,2013-04-26 It is an odd thing a desire comes to me to write and to write in my faltering mother tongue which as it happens I have not spoken since I left the home of my parents Far as my childhood years have receded from me I now suddenly find them coming back to me closer and closer to me so near they could be breathing into my mouth I see myself so clearly a plump little thing a tiny girl running all over the place pushing my way from one door through another hiding like a curled up little worm with my feet up on our broad window sills My father my mother the two grandmothers my handsome grandfather my own and outside families the comfortable and the needy weddings and funerals our streets and gardens all this streams before my eyes like the deep waters of our Dvina My old home is not there any more Everything is gone even dead My father may his prayers help us has died My mother is living and God alone knows whether she still lives in an un Jewish city that Is quite alien to her The children are scattered In this world and the other some here some there But each of them in place of his vanished inheritance has taken with him like a piece of his father s shroud the breath of the parental home I am unfolding my piece of heritage and at once there rise to my nose the odours of my old home My ears begin to sound with the clamour of the shop and the melodies that the rabbi sang on holidays From every corner a shadow thrusts out and no sooner do I touch it than it pulls me Into a dancing circle with other shadows They jostle one another prod me in the back grasp me by the hands the feet until all of them together fall upon me like a host of humming flies on a hot day I do not know where to take refuge from them And so just once I want very much to wrest from the darkness a day an hour a moment belonging to my vanished home But how does one bring back to life such a moment Dear God it is so hard to draw out a fragment of bygone life from fleshless memories And what if they should flicker out my lean memories and die away together with me I want to rescue them I recall that you my faithful friend have often in affection begged me to tell you about my life in the time before you knew me So I am writing for you Gouaches, Drawings, Watercolors Marc Chagall,Werner Haftmann,1984 Translation of Gouachen Zeichungen Aquarelle Marc Chagall: the Ceiling of the Paris Opera Jacques Lassaigne,1966 Marc Chagall on Art and Culture Marc Chagall,Яков Александрович Тугендхольд,Абрам Маркович Эфрос,Benjamin Harshav,Barbara Harshav,2003 Marc Chagall 1887 1985 traversed a long route from a boy in the Jewish Pale of Settlement to a commissar of art in revolutionary Russia to the position of a world famous French artist This book presents for the first time a comprehensive collection of Chagall s public statements on art and culture The documents and interviews shed light on his rich versatile and enigmatic art from within his own mental world The book raises the problems of a multi cultural artist with several intersecting identities and the tensions between modernist form and cultural representation in twentieth century art It reveals the travails and achievements of his life as a Jew in the twentieth century and his perennial concerns with Jewish identity and destiny Yiddish literature and the state of Israel This collection includes annotations and introductions of the Chagall texts by the renowned scholar Benjamin Harshav that elucidate the texts and convey the changing cultural contexts of Chagall s life Also featured is the translation by Benjamin and Barbara Harshav of

Chagall Jackie Wullschläger,2008-10-21 When Matisse dies Pablo Picasso remarked in the 1950s Chagall will be the only painter left who understands what color really is As a pioneer of modernism and one of the greatest figurative artists of the twentieth century Marc Chagall achieved fame and fortune and over the course of a long career created some of the best known and most loved paintings of our time Yet behind this triumph lay struggle heartbreak bitterness frustration lost love exile and above all the miracle of survival Born into near poverty in Russia in 1887 the son of a Jewish herring merchant Chagall fled the repressive potato colored tsarist empire in 1911 for Paris There he worked alongside Modigliani and Leger in the tumbledown tenement called La Ruche where one either died or came out famous But turmoil lay ahead war and
