no group is discriminated or disadvantaged and on the other that each such group may preserve the identities peculiar to itself A dialogue between different identities strengthens their own positions because all of them enjoy similar positions under the Constitution and all of them face similar problems in a democratic plural society If a dialogue and understanding is there domination and deprivation are ruled out A plural society is in greater need of an institutional understanding and consensus over the basic values of the society under state protection This guarantee of protection for the accepted Indian national values is provided by the Constitution of India It is the constitutional restructuring of social relations that has ensured equality among our various identities basing our pluralism on social equality      Centralism and Devolution of Power Rabindra Chandra Dutt, 1990 This Book Is A Collection Of Papers Presented At A Three Day Seminar Organised By The India International Centre New Delhi Dustjacket Slightly Frayed      The Muslim World Book Review ,1989      ICSSR Journal of Abstracts and Reviews Indian Council of Social Science Research, 1992      Accessions List, South Asia Library of Congress.
