Gender and the Changing Face of Higher Education in Asia Pacific Deane E. Neubauer, Surinderpal

Kaur, 2019-01-12 This book establishes gender issues as a major focus within developments shaping higher education in the Asia Pacific region. The discussion is framed as a response to various dedicated efforts such as that of the United Nations to foreground gender as a site for political discourse throughout the region. Throughout the volume, authors confront issues that continue to gain prominence in higher education as a policy arena, including the degree to which higher education operates within a framework of gender equity and how higher education appointments even promotions are sensitive to gender. By touching specific instances throughout Korea, Japan, China, Australia, India, Malaysia, Thailand, and Taiwan, authors offer an unprecedented big picture view of gender relevant policy issues. The Changing Face of Corruption in the Asia Pacific

Merike Darmody, Naomi Tyrrell, Steve Song, 2011-10-22 Before the economic boom of the 1990s, Ireland was known as a nation of emigrants. The past fifteen years, however, have seen the transformation of Ireland from a country of net emigration to one of net immigration on a scale and at a pace unprecedented in comparative context. As a result, Irish society has become more diverse in terms of nationality, language, ethnicity, and religious affiliation, and these changes are now clearly reflected in the composition of both primary and secondary schools, presenting these with challenges as well as opportunities. Despite the increased number of ethnically diverse immigrant children and young people in Ireland, currently there is a paucity of information about aspects of their lives in Ireland. This book is aimed at contributing to this gap in knowledge. This edited collection will be of interest to researchers in the fields of migration studies, childhood studies, education studies, human geography, sociology, applied social studies, social work, health studies, and psychology. It will also be a useful resource to educators, social workers, youth workers, and community members working with or preparing to work with children with immigrant and ethnic minority backgrounds in Ireland. The Changing Faces of Employment Relations

David Farnham, 2017-09-16 The old certainties and structures of employment relations no longer exist. Compared with the golden age of labour in the mid twentieth century, work and employment are more precarious; employers are increasingly hostile to trade union negotiations, and the share of wages in national income is falling. Large scale employers in turn are using sophisticated people management techniques to motivate workers with person centred performance driven and reward based processes Drawing on a range of international data this comparative text demonstrates that whilst employment relations phenomena are nationally embedded international market forces are compelling employers to compete in product markets by reducing labour costs terms and conditions of employment and job security for their workforces In an age of transnational globalisation and free market national economic policies this textbook provides penetrating cross national cross disciplinary and theoretical analyses of the changing structures of employment relations around the world Key benefits Provides critical analyses of changing patterns of employment relations in the early twenty first century drawing upon global comparative and theoretical perspectives Examines the changing faces of the subject in terms of academic disciplines methodological underpinnings and institutional cultural and historic settings Integrates industrial relations literature with recent studies of the HRM paradigm
