Changing Uganda The Dilemmas Of Structural Adjustment And Revolutionary Change:

Changing Uganda Forskningsrådet for udviklingsforskning (Denmark), 1991 Yoweri Museveni battled to power in 1986 His government has impressed many observers as Uganda's most innovative since it gained independence from Britain in 1962 The Economist recommended it as a model for other African states struggling to develop their resources in the best interests of their peoples But where was change to start At the bottom in building resistance committees or at the top in tough negotiations with the IMF How was it to continue Was it in the restructuring of the national army in increasing respect for human rights in the reform of education in tackling AIDS or in getting Ugandans to speak a common language Was it in building more viable survival strategies for the poorest Ugandans or in restructuring the national constitution The last five years have shown a radical approach to Uganda's dilemmas Holger Bernt Hansen and Michael Twaddle previously edited Uganda Now It was brought together at a significant moment just as President Museveni was gaining power in 1985 6 It was so much in demand that it even entered the magendo market on the streets of Kampala The book which is still in print was described by The Canadian Journal of African Studies as virtually a mini encyclopedia of Uganda and by The African Studies Review as the best overview of Uganda's trauma in the last two decades The editors have assembled another team of Ugandan and international scholars to review the dilemmas of introducing revolutionary changes in an African country deeply affected by structural adjustment plans which have been imposed from outside The Impact of Species Changes in African Lakes P. Hart, T.J. Pitcher, 2012-12-06 The African lakes are an extremely important ecosystem and the subject of much study relating to species introductions and loss of biodiversity This book provides a thorough review of the whole subject and will be of great interest to fish biologists fisheries workers ecologists environmental scientists and conservationists Can Democracy be Designed? Sunil Bastian, Robin Luckham, 2003-06 Constitution making for democracy has always been a highly political and contested process It has never been more ambitious or more difficult than today as politicians and experts attempt to build democratic institutions that will foster peace and stability in countries torn by violent conflict The extended investigation out of which this book has grown has ranged across three continents It has examined such apparently intractable cases as Bosnia Herzegovina Sri Lanka and Fiji as well as apparent success stories like South Africa Ghana and Uganda Three groups of questions are explored How and by whom were democratic institutions re-designed How have they functioned in practice what has been the relationship between democratic institutions and democratic politics How have they measured up to the pressures placed on them by ongoing violence poverty globalization and democratization itself The authors while regarding democracy as a general entitlement refuse to subscribe to a triumphalist view which sees it as a universal panacea Instead they seek to understand how democratic institutions actually facilitate or sometimes fail to facilitate improved governance and the management of conflict in a variety of national settings This thoughtful and empirical set of explorations is highly relevant to other societies wrestling with similar problems of institutional design in situations of democratic transition and or deep seated social conflict      The Uganda Journal ,1999

Wealth, Power, and Authoritarian Institutions Michaela Collord,2024-07-16 Through an analysis of the recent political history of Tanzania and Uganda Wealth Power and Authoritarian Institutions offers a novel explanation of why authoritarian parties and legislatures vary in strength and why this variation matters Michaela Collord elaborates a view of authoritarian political institutions as both reflecting and magnifying elite power dynamics While there are many sources of elite power the book centres on material power It outlines how diverse trajectories of state led capitalist development engender differing patterns of wealth accumulation and elite contestation across regimes These differences in turn influence institutional landscapes Where accumulation is more closely controlled by state and party leaders as was true in Tanzania until economic liberalization in the 1980s rival factions remain subdued Ruling parties can then consolidate relatively strong institutional structures and parliament remains marginal Conversely where a class of private wealth accumulators expands as occurred in Tanzania after the 1980s and in Uganda after the National Resistance Movement took power in 1986 rival factions can more easily form simultaneously eroding party institutions and encouraging greater legislative strength Collord uses this analysis to reassess the significance of a stronger legislature She considers its influence on distributive politics both regressive and progressive She also considers its relation to democratization particularly in a context of broader liberalizing reforms The book ultimately encourages a closer examination of how would be democratic institutions interact with an underlying power distribution shaping in whose interests they operate Oxford Studies in African Politics and International Relations is a series for scholars and students working on African politics and International Relations and related disciplines Volumes concentrate on contemporary developments in African political science political economy and International Relations such as electoral politics democratization decentralization gender and political representation the political impact of natural resources the dynamics and consequences of conflict comparative political thought and the nature of the continent s engagement with the East and West Comparative and mixed methods work is particularly encouraged Case studies are welcomed but should demonstrate the broader theoretical and empirical implications of the study and its wider relevance to contemporary debates The focus of the series is on sub Saharan Africa although proposals that explain how the region engages with North Africa and other parts of the world are of interest General Editors Nic Cheeseman Peace Medie and Ricardo Soares de Oliveira

The Migration Experience in Africa Jonathan Baker,Tade Akin Aina,1995 South Africa by Christian M Rogerson      The Cambridge Survey of World Migration Robin Cohen,1995-11-02 This extensive survey of migration in the modern world begins in the sixteenth century with the establishment of European colonies overseas and covers the history of migration to the late twentieth century when global communications and transport systems stimulated immense and complex flows of labour migrants and skilled professionals In ninety five contributions leading scholars from twenty seven different countries consider a wide variety of issues including migration patterns the flights of refugees and illegal migration Each entry is a

UNICEF Support for AIDS Control in Uganda ,1992      Africa Today ,1998      Navigating Youth, Generating Adulthood Catrine Shroff,Catrine Christiansen,Mats Utas,Henrik Vigh,2006 This book focuses on the lives and experiences of young people in Africa On agents who willingly or unwillingly see themselves as belonging to the socio generational category of youth and the ways in which they seek to shape and unfold their lives in a positive manner Rather than seeing youth as either a social or cultural entity in itself or as a predefined life stage the book argues for an exploration of how youth position themselves and are positioned within generational categories In studying young people social scientists must conceptualise youth as both social being and social becoming a position in movement It is from the duality of being positioned and seeking one __s own socio generational position that this book engages in the debate on contemporary African youth The chapters are based on ethnographic research across the African continent and provide in depth analyses of the perceptions positions possibilities and practices of diverse groups of young people The book will be of value to scholars and students of African studies and social science interested in this major yet marginalized social category in contemporary Africa      Transafrican Journal of History ,1998      Law, Power, and Justice Lynn S.
