Changing Veils:

Changing Veils Carla Makhlouf, 2016-10-04 In Yemen where current poverty is combined with a rich cultural heritage the distinctions between the traditional and the modern are particularly difficult First published in 1979 this is a study of social change as experienced and perceived by the women of Sana'a the capital city of North Yemen It presents a synthesised view of the process of change rather than focusing on the issues of exploitation and emancipation and draws upon observations of women's daily routine and ritual activities as well as the media and the provocative insights of Yemeni poets The veil is the focus of the study because it can be seen as a symbol of the contradictions inherent in Yemeni society not just about the female but also about all social relations It can be interpreted as both an instrument of oppression and the incitement of liberation and is thus illustrative of deep cultural ambiguities This book will be of interest to those studying women gender Islam the Middle East and anthropology

Of Widows and Meals Reta Halteman Finger, 2007-05-27 Though community has become a common byword in the contemporary Western church the practice of communal sharing has effectively fallen by the wayside Unfortunately it is often the poor who are left wanting because we no longer come together Reta Halteman Finger finds a solution to this modern problem by learning from the ancient Mediterranean Christian culture of community In the earliest Jerusalem church in holding the responsibility for preparing and serving communal meals women were given a place of honor With the table fellowship and goods sharing of the early church Luke says there were no needy persons among them Acts 4:34 Finger thoroughly examines this agape meal tradition challenging traditional interpretations of the community of goods in the Jerusalem church and proving that the communal sharing lasted for hundreds of years longer than previously assumed Of Widows and Meals begins a discussion of need in community that can revolutionize the contemporary church's interaction with the world at large

The Corinthian Body Dale B. Martin, 1999-01-01 Annotation In this intriguing discussion of Paul's first letter to the Corinthians Dale Martin contends that Paul's various disagreements with the Corinthians were the result of a fundamental conflict over the ideological construction of the human body and hence the church as the body of Christ This led to differing opinions on a variety of theological viewpoints including the role of rhetoric and philosophy in a hierarchical society the eating of meat sacrificed to idols prostitution sexual desire and marriage and the resurrection of the body Book jacket
