Challenging Boundaries Joyce W. Warren, Margaret Dickie, 2000 What if the American literary canon were expanded to consistently represent women writers who do not always fit easily into genres and periods established on the basis of men's writings How would the study of American literature benefit from this long needed revision This timely collection of essays by fourteen women writers breaks new ground in American literary study Not content to rediscover and awkwardly fit female writers into the white male scheme of anthologies and college courses editors Margaret Dickie and Joyce W Warren question the current boundaries of literary periods advocating a revised literary canon The essays consider a wide range of American women writers including Mary Rowlandson Margaret Fuller Harriet Beecher Stowe Emily Dickinson Frances Harper Edith Wharton Gertrude Stein Amy Lowell and Adrienne Rich discussing how the present classification of these writers by periods affects our reading of their work Beyond the focus of feminist challenges to American literary periodization this volume also studies issues of a need for literary reforms considering differences in race ethnicity class and sexuality The essays are valuable and informative as individual critical studies of specific writers and their works Challenging Boundaries presents intelligent original well written and practical arguments in support of long awaited changes in American literary scholarship and is a milestone of feminist literary study

Challenging Boundaries Joyce W. Warren, Margaret Dickie, 2012-03-15 What if the American literary canon were expanded to consistently represent women writers who do not always fit easily into genres and periods established on the basis of men's writings How would the study of American literature benefit from this long needed revision This timely collection of essays by fourteen women writers breaks new ground in American literary study Not content to rediscover and awkwardly fit female writers into the white male scheme of anthologies and college courses editors Margaret Dickie and Joyce W Warren question the current boundaries of literary periods advocating a revised literary canon The essays consider a wide range of American women writers including Mary Rowlandson Margaret Fuller Harriet Beecher Stowe Emily Dickinson Frances Harper Edith Wharton Gertrude Stein Amy Lowell and Adrienne Rich discussing how the present classification of these writers by periods affects our reading of their work Beyond the focus of feminist challenges to American literary periodization this volume also studies issues of a need for literary reforms considering differences in race ethnicity class and sexuality The essays are valuable and informative as individual critical studies of specific writers and their works Challenging Boundaries presents intelligent original well written and practical arguments in support of long awaited changes in American literary scholarship and is a milestone of feminist literary study

Artistic Outlaws Sonja Samberger, 2005 The creator of the new composition in the arts is an outlaw until he is a classic Gertrude Stein wrote in 1926 Unlike male modernists such as T S Eliot or Ezra Pound the modernist women poets Edith Sitwell Amy Lowell Stein and H D never became high modernist models but remained artistic outlaws The present study shows how these women were present on the modernist scene but followed their own concepts and struggled to establish their position as modernist women poets

Defying definition the four poets not only richly contributed to modernism but were indeed its developers Echoes of Emerson Diana Hope Polley, 2017-10-17 Probes the ways in which two major periods in nineteenth century American literature Romanticism and Realism have come to be understood and defined Harriet Wilson's Our Nig R.J. Ellis, 2021-10-18 Addressed to all readers of Our Nig from professional scholars of African American writing through to a more general readership this book explores both Our Nig's key cultural contexts and its historical and literary significance as a narrative Harriet E Wilson's Our Nig 1859 is a startling tale of the mistreatment of a young African American mulatto woman Frado living in New England at a time when slavery though abolished in the North still existed in the South Frado a Northern free black yet treated as badly as many Southern slaves of the time is unforgettably portrayed as experiencing and resisting vicious mistreatment To achieve this disturbing portrait Harriet Wilson's book combines several different literary genres realist novel autobiography abolitionist slave narrative and sentimental fiction R.J. Ellis explores the relationship of Our Nig to these genres and additionally to laboring class writing Harriet Wilson was an indentured farm servant He identifies the way Our Nig stands as a double first the first separately published novel written in English by an African American female it is also one of the first by a member of the laboring class about the laboring class This study explores how as a result Our Nig tells a series of disturbing two stories about America's constitutional guarantee of freedom and the way these relate to Frado's farm life American Women Writers of the 19th Century Heidi M. Hanrahan, 2025-04-03 The nineteenth century was a period of prolific literary production from women writers including figures such as Louisa May Alcott Harriet Jacobs and Zitkala a who played pivotal roles in American literary history Despite facing societal forces aimed at silencing them women writers found ways to assert their voices and contribute to the intellectual and political debates of the era Their works contribute to conversations on a wide range of topics including art gender social reform slavery abolition economic and social inequality national expansion Native American dispossession and the changing identity of the nation Both retrospective and forward looking their written works found diverse audiences of men women and children This book functions as a comprehensive guide to understanding the breadth of nineteenth century women's writing exploring not only the writers and their texts but also the literary periods genres and key cultural historical and social movements that shaped their works By examining these authors impact on American literary traditions and their role in cultural discourse it highlights the lasting relevance of their work in both historical and contemporary contexts Timelines of American Literature Cody Marrs, Christopher Hager, 2019-01-29 A collection of engaging essays that seeks to uniquely reperiodize American literature It is all but inevitable for literary history to be divided into periods Early American antebellum modern post 1945 such designations organize our knowledge of the past and shape the ways we discuss that past today These periods tend to align with the watershed moments in American history even as the field has shifted its perspective away from the nation state It is high time we rethink these defining periods of American literary history as the drawing of literary timelines is a necessary even illuminating practice In these short spirited and imaginative essays 23 leading Americanists gamely fashion new unorthodox literary periods from 600 B C E to the present from the Age of Van Buren to the Age of Microeconomics They bring to light literary and cultural histories that have been obscured by traditional timelines and raise provocative questions What is our definition of modernism if we imagine it stretching from 1865 to 1965 instead of 1890 to 1945 How does the captivity narrative change when we consider it as a contemporary not just a colonial genre What does the course of American literature look like set against the backdrop of federal denials of Native sovereignty or housing policies that exacerbated segregation Filled with challenges to scholars inspirations for teachers anchored by an appendix of syllabi and entry points for students Timelines of American Literature gathers some of the most exciting new work in the field to showcase the revelatory potential of fresh thinking about how we organize the literary past

Feminist Interventions in Early American Studies Mary Clare Carruth, 2006 Because feminist scholarship is thriving in the field of colonial American studies this volume is timely It showcases new feminist perspectives on the literature of the period addressing the diverse experiences of European African Latin and Native Americans

Studies in American Humor, 2003

Transatlantic Conversations Beth Lynne Lueck, Sirpa Salenius, Nancy Lusignan Schultz, 2017 How American women authors interacted as writers activists and reformers in Europe and the Caribbean during the nineteenth century

Popular Nineteenth-century American Women Writers and the Literary Marketplace Earl Frank Yarrington, Mary De Jong, 2007 Wide ranging admirably researched and accessible this volume of essays locates women writers firmly in the center of the hurly burly of literary and economic developments that made up the literary marketplace in nineteenth century America Dr Joanne Dobson independent scholar and novelist This remarkable collection by editors Earl Yarrington and Mary De Jong contributes richly to the ongoing recovery of the works and methods of highly popular American women writers of the nineteenth century Augmenting the body of scholarship on professional women writers these essays showcase the ways in which best selling female authors met the demands of a burgeoning literary marketplace This collection provides striking insights into an industry that was anything but sedate or genteel Sensitive to hair trigger shifts in the marketplace nineteenth century women writers refined their strategies for meeting consumer desires Professional writers like Stowe Hale Warner Holmes and Southworth are recognized here for their attunement to audience trends tastes and temperament They responded with a prodigious output of novels short fiction non fiction and serialized features that bolstered the American publishing industry The contributors to this much needed volume have succeeded in re acquainting later generations with the extensive output and skilled professionalism of writers whose works once covered parlor library tables This is an important scholarly achievement Susan I Gatti Indiana University of PA Includes essays on Lydia Maria Child Elizabeth Oakes Smith Grace Greenwood Anna Warner E D E N Southworth Alcott Grace King Frances Harper Chopin Winnifred Eaton and other successful authors
