

The book cover features a large, horizontally-oriented oval that is split into two equal halves. The top half of the oval is a dark teal color, and the bottom half is a bright yellow color. Two thin, horizontal red stripes run across the entire width of the cover, one positioned just above the oval and one just below it. The title is centered within the oval, with the words "CHANGING" and "NOMADS" in yellow text on the dark teal background, "IN A" in small white text on the boundary, and "CHANGING" and "WORLD" in dark teal text on the yellow background.

Changing Nomads In A Changing World:

Changing Nomads in a Changing World Joseph Ginat, 1998-01-01 Discusses how pastoralists are coping and changing as the societies they inhabit change at an unprecedented pace

Nomads in a Changing World Carl Salzman, John G. Galaty, 1990

Pastoral practices in High Asia Hermann Kreutzmann, 2012-03-28 In conventional views pastoralism was classified as a stage of civilization that needed to be abolished and transcended in order to reach a higher level of development In this context global approaches to modernize a rural society have been ubiquitous phenomena independent of ideological contexts The 20th century experienced a variety of concepts to settle mobile groups and to transfer their lifestyles to modern perceptions Permanent settlements are the vivid expression of an ideology driven approach Modernization theory captured all walks of life and tried to optimize breeding techniques pasture utilization transport and processing concepts New insights into other aspects of pastoralism such as its role as an adaptive strategy to use marginal resources in remote locations with difficult access could only be understood as a critique of capitalist and communist concepts of modernization In recent years a renaissance of modernization theory led development activities can be observed Higher inputs from external funding fencing of pastures and settlement of pastoralists in new townships are the vivid expression of modern pastoralism in urban contexts The new modernization programme incorporates resettlement and transformation of lifestyles as to be justified by environmental pressure in order to reduce degradation in the age of climate change

State Formation and Identity in the Middle East and North Africa K. Christie, M. Masad, 2013-12-17 For states in the Middle East North Africa and South Asia the Arab Spring has had different implications and consequences stemming from the politics of identity and the historical and political processes that have shaped development This book focuses on how these factors interact with globalization and affect state formation

Continuity and Change in Cultural Adaptation to Mountain Environments Ludomir R Lozny, 2013-03-12 Up until now mountain ecosystems have not been closely studied by social scientists as they do not offer a readily defined set of problems for human exploitation as do for instance tropical forests or arctic habitats But the archaeological evidence had shown that humans have been living in this type of habitat for thousands of years From this evidence we can also see that mountainous regions are often frontier zones of competing polities and form refuge areas for dissident communities as they often are inherently difficult to control by centralized authorities As a consequence they fuel or contribute disproportionately to political violence But we are now witnessing changes and increasing vulnerability of mountain ecosystems caused by human activities Human adaptability to mountain ecosystems This volume presents an international and interdisciplinary account of the exploitation of and human adaptation to mountainous regions over time The contributions discuss human cultural responses to key physical and cultural stressors associated with mountain ecosystems such as aridity quality of soils steep slopes low productivity as well as transient phenomena such as changing weather patterns deforestation and erosion and the possible effects of climate change This volume will be of interest to anthropologists ecologists and geologists as mountainous landscapes change fast and cultures disappear and they need to be recorded and mountain regions are of interest for studies on environmental change and cultural responses of mountain populations provide clues for us all Critical to understanding mountain adaptations is our comprehension of human decision making and how people view short and long term outcomes

Inner Asia and the Spatial Politics of Empire William Honeychurch,2014-11-05 This monograph uses the latest archaeological results from Mongolia and the surrounding areas of Inner Asia to propose a novel understanding of nomadic statehood political economy and the nature of interaction with ancient China In contrast to the common view of the Eurasian steppe as a dependent periphery of Old World centers this work views Inner Asia as a locus of enormous influence on neighboring civilizations primarily through the development and transmission of diverse organizational models technologies and socio political traditions This work explores the spatial management of political relationships within the pastoral nomadic setting during the first millennium BCE and argues that a culture of mobility horse based transport and long distance networking promoted a unique variant of statehood Although states of the eastern steppe were geographically large and hierarchical these polities also relied on techniques of distributed authority multiple centers flexible structures and ceremonialism to accommodate a largely mobile and dispersed populace This expertise in spatial politics set the stage early on for the expansionistic success of later Asian empires under the Mongols and Manchus Inner Asia and the Spatial Politics of Empire brings a distinctly anthropological treatment to the prehistory of Mongolia and is the first major work to explore key issues in the archaeology of eastern Eurasia using a comparative framework The monograph adds significantly to anthropological theory on interaction between states and outlying regions the emergence of secondary complexity and the growth of imperial traditions Based on this approach the window of Inner Asian prehistory offers a novel opportunity to investigate the varied ways that complex societies grow and the processes articulating adjacent societies in networks of mutual transformation

Arctic Pastoralist Sakha Hiroki Takakura,2015 Presents a fascinating analysis of the horse and cattle breeding culture of the Sakha Back cover

Nomadic Societies in the Middle East and North Africa Dawn Chatty,2018-11-12 A scholarly volume devoted to an understanding of contemporary nomadic and pastoral societies in the Middle East and North Africa This volume recognizes the variable mobile quality of the ways of life of these societies which persist in accommodating the nation state of the 20th and 21st century but remain firmly transnational and highly adaptive Composed of four sections around the theme of contestation it includes examinations of contested authority and power space and social transformation development and economic transformation and cultures and engendered spaces

Multispecies Households in the Saian Mountains Alex Oehler,Anna Varfolomeeva,2019-12-16 Multispecies Households in the Saian Mountains brings together new ethnographic insights from the mountains of Southern Siberia and Mongolia Contributors to this edited collection examine Indigenous ideas of what it means to make a home alongside animals and spirits in changing alpine and subalpine environments Set in the Eastern Saian

Mountain Region of South Central Siberia and northern Mongolia this book covers an area famous for its claim as the birthplace of Eurasian reindeer domestication Going beyond reindeer the contributors explore the less known roles of yaks horses wolves fish as well as spirits of place and many other sentient beings all of which co constitute local notions of home places The contributors extend their analysis beyond conventional categories of wild and tame in a region that is increasingly hostile toward its own inhabitants due to global efforts to create protected nature reserves Using ethnographic nuance the contributors highlight the many connections between humans and other species stressing the networks of relationships that transcend idioms of dominance or mutualism This book is recommended for students and scholars of anthropology environmental studies and Asian studies Nomadic Peoples ,2010 Nomads in a Changing World Dawn Chatty,1978
