might have been describing his own life Although he early on struggled to find a balance between his life and art the latter became a way of experiencing his life more deeply He found meaning in human experience by applying traditional religious language to his artistic vocation Central to his work was the translation of the language of devotion to a learned American vernacular Art not only provided him with a wealth of intrinsically worthwhile experiences but also granted rich and nuanced ways of experiencing understanding and being in the world For Donald Justice recipient of some of poetry's highest laurels including the Pulitzer Prize the Bollingen Prize and the Lannan Literary Award for Poetry art was a way of life Because Jerry Harp was Justice's student his personal knowledge of his subject combined with his deep understanding of Justice's oeuvre works to remarkable advantage in For Us What Music Harp reads with keen intelligence placing each poem within the precise historical moment it was written and locating it in the context of the literary tradition within which Justice worked Throughout the text runs the narrative of Justice's life tying together the poems and informing Harp's interpretation of them For Us What Music grants readers a remarkable understanding of one of America's greatest poets Best Sellers, 1981

fellow Chicagoan Saul Bellow He surveys what he calls Stern's theme of geniuses and epigones in the novels Golk and Stitch as well as Stern's long fascination with Americans living and traveling in Europe a place where some of Stern's best fictions are set Modern Age, 1962 Materijali za istorijata na Makedonija, 1982 In Any Case Richard Stern, 1962 Samuel Curry sets out to search for his son who was shot down by Nazi forces over France and may or may not still be alive
