Challenge Of Competence:

New Developments in the Psychology of Motivation Filip M. Olsson, 2008 Motivation is a reason or set of reasons for engaging in a particular behaviour especially human behaviour as studied in psychology and neuropsychology The reasons may include basic needs e.g. food water shelter or an object goal state of being or ideal that is desirable which may or may not be viewed as positive such as seeking a state of being in which pain is absent The motivation for a behaviour may also be attributed to less apparent reasons such as altruism or morality

Advanced Consulting in Family Medicine Peter Worrall, Adrian French, Les Ashton, 2018-04-19 What distinguishes the consulting of experienced family doctors from their newly qualified colleagues The question is often frustratingly hard answer clearly or objectively unlike many professions family doctors face a dearth of clear expectations of what constitutes advanced practice a lack of defined standards against which to evaluate it and an absence of expertise related professional training in which to develop it post certification The model of consultation excellence outlined in this book illustrates in practical terms how advanced consulting can be nurtured It avoids tantalising value judgement such as excellence Instead it describes behaviours in terms that can be observed day to day providing a detailed picture of what constitutes advanced consulting behaviour how family doctors can be helped to acquire these higher levels of expertise and how changes in behaviour can be identified and evaluated Advanced Consulting in Family Medicine is written in handbook form for easy access and use and provides a vital vision of higher order family doctor consulting
