Change In Schools Facilitating The Process Suny Series In Educational Leadership:

Change in Schools Gene Hall, Shirley Hord, 1987-03-06 This book summarizes nearly fifteen years of research in schools research geared toward understanding and describing the change process as experienced by its participants It addresses the question What can educators and educational administrators do on a day to day basis to become more effective in facilitating beneficial change The book provides research based tools techniques and approaches that can help change facilitators to attain this goal The authors contend that in order to be more effective educators must be concerned in their approach to leadership Early chapters deal with teachers evolving attitudes concerns and perceptions of change as well as their gradually developing skills in implementing promising educational innovations The authors next turn to examine the role of the school principal and other leaders as change facilitators and present ways that they can become better informed about the developmental state of teachers as well as how to use these diagnostic survey and data as the basis for facilitating the change process The emphasis is on practical day to day skills and techniques showing administrators how to design and implement interventions that are supportive of teachers and others Each chapter presents not only the concepts and research of the authors but also translates the concepts in concrete applications which illustrate the ways they can be applied to obtain genuine and lasting improvements The book also contains an important discussion and description of the change process focusing on teachers innovations and the schools

Resources in Education ,1991-10 International Handbook of Leadership for Learning Tony Townsend, John MacBeath, 2011-07-10 The International Handbook of Leadership for Learning brings together chapters by distinguished authors from thirty one countries in nine different regions of the world The handbook contains nine sections that provide regional overviews a consideration of theoretical and contextual aspects system and policy approaches that promote leadership for learning with a focus on educating school leaders for learning and the role of the leader in supporting learning It also considers the challenge of educating current leaders for this new perspective and how leaders themselves can develop leadership for learning in others and in their organisations especially in diverse contexts and situations The final chapter considers what we now know about leadership for learning and looks at ways this might be further improved in the future The book provides the reader with an understanding of the rich contextual nature of learning in schools and the role of school leaders and leadership development in promoting this It concludes that the preposition for between the two readily known and understood terms of leadership and learning changes everything as it foregrounds learning and complexifies rather than simplifies what that word may mean Whereas common terms such as instructional leadership reduce learning to outcomes leadership for learning embraces a much wider developmental view of learning

Technology Education in the Classroom Senta A. Raizen, 1995-09-29 In this book the authors provide a vision of what a coherent K 12 technology education program for America s schools might look like and what it might achieve Using classroom vignettes the authors explain how to construct a series of multi year courses or course
