Changing Functions of Lower and Middle Management in the Netherlands J. M. Baaijens, 1993-07 Covers organization and management learning processes within the organization differences between sectors personnel management and internationalism Charts Changing Functions of Lower and Middle Management J. M. J. Baaijens, J. H. T. H. Andriessen, European Foundation for the Improvement of Living and Working Conditions, 1991 How Managers Can Thrive in Waves of Change Dutch Holland, Deborah Salvo, 2012-06-20 Thriving in Times of Increasing Change Never before have organizations faced an environment as turbulent and as difficult as this one Businesses must change the way they are doing business now to a new way that will work for them in the future While major organizational change was once the exception it is now the rule and organizations will have to be very good at organizational change to thrive in the new business environment Profound changes are on the way Todays businesses are bracing for change Waves of regulatory requirements are coming in increasing amounts and intensity Competition is more intense and coming from every direction Customers no longer will settle for yesterdays products services or levels of quality Things are challenging out there and businesses can no longer simply hunker down and weather the storm Many predict that todays storm is tomorrows business environment an environment in which we must be able to thrive or die Adding to the assault many business leaders are shocked at how much change is likely to be required in such a short period of time No longer is it a question of if or when huge waves of change will hit its a matter of how well organizations are positioned to effectively navigate and even flourish in the changes Waves of change are already hitting the beach and their strength is almost certain to build Its too late for a bunker mentality Out of the bunkers and into what Companies cannot stay in their bunkers forever Sooner or later they must come out and face the music That means they must come out and change the way they do business in order to fit into the turbulent world Change is no longer an option but change the way they do business to what Companies coming out have two options options that are as different as night and day Surviving The intuitively obvious way The focus of doing business just to survive is logical and intuitively obvious It has companies adopting and or adapting survival tactics as the core of their new way They limit the changes they make to just get over the survival threshold Process changes are most likely very conservative patches glue ons work arounds tweaks fix and repair rather than replace emergency repairs rather than preventive maintenance etc all pursued in an atmosphere of severe cost cutting and staffing layoffs While risk management may be a goal survival oriented companies try to dodge every risk regardless of the risk rewards taking away almost all of their undeveloped opportunities that might be sources of new life for the company Unfortunately the slogan of this new way of doing business might be out of the frying pan and into the fire Thriving The straight and narrow way The focus of this new way of doing business will be positioning the organization so that it will thrive even in a nasty business environment The first step in moving toward a thriving business will be to set a vision that is designed to separate the company from the middle of the road pack of competitors This way of doing business will require the company to improve all work processes that could translate into a competitive edge Processes must be advanced beyond best practices to an industry leading position This way of doing business calls for investment in the best available technology that enables the companys core processes in equipment upgrades where possible expansion of employee responsibilities provision of aggressive training on key skills that support core work processes and more All of these actions will require energy and resources as the straight and narrow way calls for an investment and opportunity mindset However the largest investment will need to be in innovation not innovation you pay for but innovation from

The Changing Dynamics of Higher Education Middle Management V. Lynn Meek,Leo Goedegebuure,Rui Santiago,Teresa Carvalho,2010-07-16 Known as either soft or hard managerialism new managerialism or new public management this new narrative has irrespective of moniker permeated the institutions of higher education almost everywhere Taking this as its context this volume is founded on a comprehensive international comparative analysis of the evolving role of middle level academic managers deans heads of department and their equivalents The chapters address key questions that will determine the future of academe have the imperatives of management theory caused a realignment of the values and expectations of middle level academic managers In what way do the new expectations placed on this group shape the academic profession as a whole And whose interests do middle level academic managers represent Based on material presented at one of the high level Douro Seminars on research into tertiary education this volume systematically combines theoretical views with empirical analysis It argues that managerialist pressure has resulted in changes in the way academic performance is measured There has been a shift in criteria away from research reputation teaching and scholarship to the measurement of performance based upon management capacities This has given middle level academic managers a pivotal role halfway between the predilections of high level decision makers and the maintenance of academic values and control The enhanced expectations and more defined functions of middle level academic managers are in clear contrast to earlier times when the position was considered a public spirited rite of passage for career minded academics Despite this the contributors to this book believe that the middle level managers in the ten countries examined are neither corporate lackeys nor champions of academe It is becoming increasingly clear that the ability of organisations to achieve their aims is largely dependent on the skill and dedication of middle managers Past studies of organisational dynamics have been preoccupied with the executive level of management This text which will be of great interest to researchers and policy makers alike attempts to redress the balance
