Crosby, 1998-05-13 The Cold War produced a matrix of Canadian US extra governmental military and economic relationships which significantly shaped Canadian political decision making as it related to the defence of the continent under the auspices of the North American Air Aerospace Defence Agreement NORAD In the post cold War era these relationships continue to effectively support a traditional security agenda for the Canadian government The rewritten NORAD Agreement signed in March 1996 is the vehicle for Canadian participation in US missile defence programs worldwide Paying particular attention to the decisions to adopt a nuclear weapons role for Canada s continental air defence forces to test the US air launched cruise missile in the Canadian North and to become increasingly involved in active missile and space based defence programs the author examines the Cold War construction of Canadian US military and economic relationships the effects of these relationships on political decision making the public discourse as a site of alternative understandings of Canada s role in the Cold War Ann Denholm Crosby provides a challenging analysis of Canadian defence decision making in both its Cold war and post Cold War contexts      At Home and Abroad Patrick Lennox, 2010-07-01 Canada s relationship with the United States and its place in the world currently occupy distinct spheres in the minds of policymakers intellectuals and citizens At home Canada is thought to enjoy a special relationship with the United States abroad it occupies a place as the world s problem solver and peacekeeper Patrick Lennox analyzes six key events in the history of relations between the two countries to reveal the underlying connection between the Canada US relationship and Canada s place in the world The war in Afghanistan is but the latest in a series of paradoxical interactions between the two states abroad that has resulted from the hierarchy in Canada US relations at home      NATO and the Bomb Erika Simpson, 2001-03-29 Using a new conceptual framework this study documents and analyses the underlying convictions of influential Canadians explains why there were such varied degrees of support for NATO and shows why different leaders either supported or rejected nuclear weapons and the stationing of the Canadian Forces in Europe Examples taken from previously classified documents illustrate how the underlying convictions of leaders such as Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau significantly shaped defence policy Behind the scenes maneuvering and competing beliefs about nuclear weapons deterrence strategy and possible entrapment in a nuclear war led some to defend and others to criticize Canada s approach to both NATO and the bomb Despite the technological ability and resources to develop its own nuclear weapons or to acquire them from the United States Canada ultimately chose not to become a nuclear power Why did some Canadian leaders defend the nuclear option and urge the deployment of the Canadian Forces in Europe Why did others condemn the country s nuclear commitments and call for an end to the arms race Simpson shows that some leaders rejected prevailing American defence strategy and weapons systems to pursue alternative approaches to managing Canada's complex bilateral and multilateral defence relationships Canada's International Security Policy David Brian Dewitt, David Leyton-Brown, 1995 Peace Magazine, 1992 Changing the Guard Howard Peter Langille, 1990 Canada and World Order Thomas F. Whittington, Glen Williams, 1995 British Journal of Canadian Studies, 1998 A Bibliography of Works on Canadian Foreign Relations, 1986 Canadian Politics in the 21st Century Michael S. Whittington, Glen Williams, 2000 (Re) Defining Traditions Edna Keeble, Heather Ann Smith, 1999 Designed to show how feminist concepts can be used to reassess traditional approaches to Canadian foreign policy by using critical feminist deconstructionism this book identifies and explores the gendering of ideas related to Canada's role and status while also addressing broader themes such as security Creating a Failed State John W. Warnock, 2008 By the end of 2001 the United States and its local allies had chased the hated Taliban government out of Afghanistan They had begun a process to create a new constitution and elect a government and the United Nations was leading a broad coalition starting reconstruction and development Canada made major commitments to this project but the Taliban are back The war restarted and looks to have no end in sight As John Warnock so deftly explains this situation is only understandable within a broad geopolitical framework Under the guise of intending to capture Osama bin Laden and the al Qaeda perpetrators of the 9/11 attacks Afghanistan became a target for US imperialism and its desire to dominate the world and its oil and gas resources Shamefully but not surprisingly successive Canadian governments have participated in this imperialist adventure in Central Asia
