Future Survey Annual 1990 Michael Marien, 1990-01-01 Global Change and Our Common Future National Research Council, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Commission on Physical Sciences, Mathematics, and Applications, Committee on Global Change, 1989-02-01

Global Change and Our Common Future includes 22 edited presentations from the Forum on Global Change and Our Common Future. The Forum sponsored by the National Academy of Sciences, Smithsonian Institution, American Association for the Advancement of Sciences, and Sigma Xi was organized to inform the public about the changes occurring in the global environment and the implications for public policy.

The Last Harvest Paul Raeburn, 1996-01-01. This book is an outstanding successor to Silent Spring; it is a gripping yet even-handed account of what happens when good science meets bad public policy. The result ends up on your dinner plate for better or worse. San Francisco Examiner. Raeburn recounts in fascinating detail how science and government have tried to protect our endowment of germ plasm through seed banks, breeding programs, botanical gardens, and biosphere reserves. New York Times. A well-reasoned, timely call for American agriculture to recognize that putting eggs in a single basket can lead to disaster. Kirkus Science. Journalism at its best: a lively, well-informed account of scientists at work that reveals how the vaunted productivity of American crops, achieved at the expense of their natural genetic diversity, conceals a devastating vulnerability to pollution and pestilence. Barry Commoner. Paul Raeburn, science editor of the Associated Press, gives us an eye-opening account of how the genetic manipulation of American crops threatens our food supply and what we must do to try to avert this disaster. This Bison Books edition carries a new preface by the author.

Global Environmental Challenges of the Twenty-first Century David E. Lorey, 2003. The most serious environmental problems of the twenty-first century have the potential to alter the course of life on this planet. Global warming, toxic waste, water and air pollution, acid rain, and shrinking energy supplies are frightening challenges that may threaten our future if we do not face up to them. Global Environmental Challenges provides important information and gives us hope about the environment. This book first helps us to grasp these difficulties, then shows us the choices we can make. How long to leave a light on, whether to take the car, the train, or bicycle to work, whether to recycle or throw away, whether to vote to curb continued suburban sprawl—all of these decisions can make a difference. This collection of some of the best essays and articles on the environment comes from a variety of sources, including journals, magazines, websites of ecological conservation organizations, and other publications. Five major sections investigate the interaction of population growth, consumption, and environment; the emerging crisis in freshwater around the globe; global climate and atmosphere, including global warming, biodiversity loss, and the concept of sustainable development; using natural resources to place future human development on a sustainable path. The final section on sustainable development reveals how we can take action. As individuals, we can make a difference readily and easily without making huge personal sacrifices. As societies, we can work together in a global community of interest to sustain the earth. This valuable resource offers readers a better understanding of our environmental problems and presents solutions to improving the health of the planet p Building Sustainable Societies: A Blueprint for a Post-industrial World Dennis Clark Pirages, 2016-09-16 A collection of articles addressing the issue of whether the industrial model of human progress can be sustained in the long term It asks what the social political economic and environmental implications as well as potential solutions to the problem of resource intensive growth are Role of Private Voluntary Organizations in the U.S. Foreign Assistance Program
