"The" Collected Poems of Isaac Rosenberg Isaac Rosenberg, 1974 The Collected Poems of Isaac Rosenberg Isaac Rosenberg, 2000 The Palgrave Handbook of Artistic and Cultural Responses to War since 1914 Martin Kerby, Margaret Baguley, Janet McDonald, 2018-12-05 This handbook explores a diverse range of artistic and cultural responses to modern conflict from Mons in the First World War to Kabul in the twenty first century With over thirty chapters from an international range of contributors ranging from the UK to the US and Australia and working across history art literature and media it offers a significant interdisciplinary contribution to the study of modern war and our artistic and cultural responses to it The handbook is divided into three parts The first part explores how communities and individuals responded to loss and grief by using art and culture to assimilate the experience as an act of survival and resilience The second part explores how conflict exerts a powerful influence on the expression and formation of both individual group racial cultural and national identities and the role played by art literature and education in this process The third part moves beyond the actual experience of conflict and its connection with issues of identity to explore how individuals and society have made use of art and culture to commemorate the war In this way it offers a unique breadth of vision and perspective to explore how conflicts have been both represented and remembered since the early twentieth century Poetry & Responsibility Neil Corcoran, 2014-03-18 This study by Neil Corcoran considers the kinds of responsibility which some exemplary modern lyric poetry takes on or to which it makes itself subject social cultural political aesthetic and personal It treats its theme in British Irish and American poets and in some influential foreign language poets available in influential English translations The book discusses the poetry of the First World War and the Cold War in such poets as Owen Rosenberg Pasternak Zbigniew Herbert and Robert Lowell the poetry and politics of modern Ireland in Yeats MacNeice Heaney and others and poetry's relations with prose painting and song in poets including Frank O'Hara Ted Hughes and Bob Dylan It focuses particularly on forms of modern elegy Poetry Yeats's gradual creation of one of his greatest poems out of his responsibilities as an Irish schools inspector Heaney's requirement that poetry make an apology for itself O'Hara's deployment of a camp sensibility in the interests of writing a politics of 1950s Black American culture Herbert's rewriting of Hamlet as a reading of Warsaw Pact Poland and the political and aesthetic significance of Dylan's restless self revision The book argues that exemplary modern lyric poetry can be shown to resist various forms of accommodation or appropriation In its strategies of opposition it becomes what Auden calls it in his elegy for Yeats A way of happening a mouth Collected Papers Walter Joseph Fischel, English Literature in Transition, 1880-1920, 1976 The Poems and Plays of Isaac Rosenberg: A Critical Edition Vivien Noakes, 2004-08-26 This is the first scholarly edition of the poetry of Isaac Rosenberg Although he is generally described as a First World War poet this edition also highlights his pre war achievement as a writer of powerful individual work Drawing on a detailed analysis of manuscript sources it offers unrivalled insight into the process of his poetic thought His numerous drafts have been transcribed in full or given as textual variants so that for the first time the reader is able to follow the extraordinary way in which he built up his poems by composing individual lines which he then assembled into the finished work that is the only way I can write in scraps his methods and the frequent hardships under which he worked are further illuminated by a detailed description of many of the manuscripts The misreading of some texts and errors in dating in earlier editions have been rectified while a detailed chronological summary offers biographical information The introduction and commentary examine textual matters dating and ordering people places and historical and biographical context and the way in which especially while working in isolation as a private soldier in France he was able to share critical ideas and thoughts on individual poems with his peers
