furiously leaving architecture to exist as it always has as the past in the present The third story features individual people experiencing their lives in the context of architecture Here Shepherd borrows the rhetorical device of Shakespeare's seven ages of man to propose that each person's life imitates the accumulating history of the human species Shepherd's version of the history of humans is a technological one in which machines become sculpture and sculpture becomes architecture For Shepherd our machines do not separate us from nature Rather our technology is our nature and we cannot but be in harmony with nature The change that we have wrought in the world he says is a wonderful and powerful thing Walford's Guide to Reference Material: Science and technology Albert John Walford, Library Association, 1999 A revised and updated guide to reference material It contains selective and evaluative entries to guide the enquirer to the best source of reference in each subject area be it journal article CD ROM on line database bibliography encyclopaedia monograph or directory It features full critical annotations and reviewers comments and comprehensive author title and subject indexes The contents include mathematics astronomy and surveying physics chemistry earth sciences palaeontology anthropology biology natural history botany zoology patents and interventions medicine engineering transport vehicles agriculture and livestock household management communication chemical industry manufactures industries trades and crafts and the building industry British Books in Print, 1971 Guide to Stars and Planets Ian Ridpath, 1984 Books in Print, 1977 Branch Library Book News New York Public Library, 1966 Subject Guide to Books in Print, 2001 Birds, 1978 The Florida Naturalist, 1967 Vols for 1962 accompanied by a newsletter with the same title issued during the other months of the year The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2002 Western Tanager, 1978 Astronomy Now, 2000 The British National Bibliography, 1965 The English Catalogue of Books Sampson Low, 1956 Vols for 1898 1968 include a directory of publishers
