College Teaching From Theory To Practice:

College Teaching: From Theory to Practice Robert J. Menges, Marilla D. Svinicki, 1991-06-03 This issue of New Directions for Teaching and Learning elaborates three theoretical perspectives through which teaching can be viewed and explores their implications for the practice of teaching These theoretical perspectives are the cognitive which deals primarily with strategies by which information is processed the motivational which deals primarily with how learning is initiated and sustained and the social which examines the interpersonal context of teaching and learning This volume also discusses personal implicit theories and how instructors can weave multiple perspectives together to solve instructional problems This is the 45th issue of the quarterly journal New Directions for Teaching and Learning For more information on the series please see the Journals and Periodicals page Teaching Allan C. Teaching Online Claire Howell Major,2015-03-15 Demystifies online teaching for both enthusiastic and wary educators and helps faculty who teach online do their best work as digital instructors It is difficult to imagine a college class today that does not include some online component whether a simple posting of a syllabus to course management software the use of social media for communication or a full blown course offering through a MOOC platform In Teaching Online Claire Howell Major describes for college faculty the changes that accompany use of such technologies and offers real world strategies for surmounting digital teaching challenges Teaching with these evolving media requires instructors to alter the ways in which they conceive of and do their work according to Major They must frequently update their knowledge of learning teaching and media and they need to develop new forms of instruction revise and reconceptualize classroom materials and refresh their communication patterns Faculty teaching online must also reconsider the student experience and determine what changes for students ultimately mean for their own work and for their institutions Teaching Online presents instructors with a thoughtful synthesis of educational theory research and practice as well as a review of strategies for managing the instructional changes involved in teaching online In addition this book presents examples of best practices from successful online instructors as well as cutting edge ideas from leading scholars and educational technologists Faculty members researchers instructional designers students administrators and policy makers who engage with online learning will find this book an invaluable resource Educational Times ,1884 University of Cincinnati Record University of Cincinnati,1916 The Atlantic Monthly ,1928 Service of the University to the City & the Annual Reports ... University of Cincinnati,1917 Ji xie gong cheng shi ,1909 Totems and Taboos ,2008-01-01 Totems and Taboos Risk and Relevance in Research on Teachers and Teaching is a compilation of selected papers from the 2007 Biennial conference of the International Study Association on Teachers and Teaching ISATT held at Brock University This volume contains keynote addresses and papers based on thematic presentations delivered at the conference namely critically investigative items which have been sacred to systems institutions and educational practitioners in order to inform the theory and practice of teaching and research While consideration of the native or aboriginal historical tradition of Canada was instrumental in developing a theme dealing with the nature of totems it was recognized that such a heritage informs research and practice regardless of national borders The papers included in this book reflect global perspectives on the conference theme and include thinkers from Australia Brazil Canada Denmark Finland Germany Great Britain Israel Slovenia Turkey and the United States In addition the writings of seasoned academics and well published authors the totems of the field so to speak are situated alongside papers from academic newcomers who have broken the taboo of not speaking in the presence of more experienced company The central metaphor of this book is the high wire or tightrope journey across Niagara Falls upon which we oscillate between the falsely dichotomous notions of research and teaching The tension in leaning towards one side or the other is presented as a negotiated process of balancing research and teaching which maintains our progress forward in the field Overlooking this edgy relationship will cause one to lean too much in one direction and fall into the chasm underneath Thus the sections of this book are designed to examine educational progress across this high wire while maintaining awareness of the risks taken on this journey Each paper is relevant to particular phases in this high wire walk and portrays the journeys of the authors within in order to inform the path of others
