This book constitutes selected papers presented during the First International Conference on Digitization in Education MoStart 2023 held in Mostar Bosnia and Herzegovina in April 2023. The 12 presented papers were thoroughly reviewed and selected from the 30 submissions. The proceedings cover a diverse range of topics including artificial intelligence and robotics in education, games and simulations, intelligent tutoring systems, augmented and virtual reality, natural language processing, computer vision, IoT and metaverse applications, learning analytics, deep learning, and ethical issues in AI applications in education and law. Professional Development for In-Service Teachers Chrystalla Mouza, Anne

Ottenbreit-Leftwich, Aman Yadav, 2022-07-01. Computer science is increasingly becoming an essential 21st century skill. As school systems around the world recognize the importance of computer science, demand for teachers who have the knowledge and skills to deliver computer science instruction is rapidly growing. Yet a number of recent studies indicate that teachers report low confidence and limited understanding of computer science, frequently confusing basic computer literacy skills with computer science. This is true for both teachers at the K-8 level as well as secondary education teachers who frequently transition to computer science from other content areas such as mathematics. As computer science is not yet included in most teacher preparation programs, professional development is a critical step in efforts to prepare in-service teachers to deliver high quality computer science instruction. To date, however, research on best practices in computer science professional development has been severely lacking in the literature, making it difficult for researchers and practitioners alike to examine effective in-service preparation models. This book provides examples of professional development approaches that help teachers integrate aspects of computing in existing curricula at the K-8 level or deliver stand-alone computer science courses at the secondary school level. Further, this book identifies computational competencies for teachers, promising pedagogical strategies that advance teacher learning, as well as alternative pathways for ongoing learning, including microcredentials. The primary audience of the book is graduate students and faculty in educational technology, educational or cognitive psychology, learning theory, curriculum and instruction, computer science, instructional systems, and learning sciences. Additionally, the book will serve as a valuable addition to education practitioners and curriculum developers, as well as policy makers looking to increase the number of teachers who are prepared to deliver computing education. AI in Daily Life Michael Martin, 2025-08-15. Public Sector Leadership Petri Virtanen, Harri Jalonen, Marika Tammeaid, 2022-11-30. Drawing its origins from the Human Relations movement of the early 20th century and from public leadership orientations emphasising human aspects human centred public leadership approaches leadership from a system's perspective. It explores societal institutions organisations and phenomena as an emergent system structure that manifests its existence through the multilateral and reciprocal interaction of its parts. Systems thinking and the need for systemic change suggest that one can only understand and improve a system by looking at how all the parts interact with each other and how they are integrated. The systemic nature of public leadership refers to dynamic learning mechanisms as they relate to the contents of leadership development tools which are derived mainly from the changing mode of the operating environment from the leaders own experience from their own personalities from a learning by doing approach to leadership development and from the ways in which leaders learn and unlearn. This book presents key concepts approaches origins applications and best practices to understand the evolution and nature of human centred approach in public leadership. It introduces a new public leadership paradigm that is needed in a complex internationally interconnected social economic cultural and political environment. Based on scholarly public leadership research in addition to the authors professional experience as academics managers practitioners and consultants this volume offers guidance for decision makers public business and non governmental sector leaders managers and practitioners about how to create a context and contents for human centred leadership in the age of complex society and turbulent operating environment. It will be of value to researchers academics and students in the in the fields of leadership and public management.
