Classical Marble: Geochemistry, Technology, Trade N. Herz, Marc Waelkens, 2013-04-17 Marble in Ancient Greece and Rome Geology Quarries Commerce Artifacts Marble remains the sine qua non raw material of the ancient Greeks and Romans Beginning in the Bronze Age sculpture began in marble and throughout classical times the most important statues reliefs monuments and inscriptions were made of it Yet quarry sources changed in time as preferences for different marbles were influenced by local traditions the possibilities of transport esthetic tastes and economics Marble studies and the identification of the provenance of marble can thus reveal much about Greek and Roman history trade esthetics and technology Persons in many disciplines are studying various aspects of Greek and Roman marble usage Geologists and geochemists are working on methods to determine the provenance of marble archaeologists are noting changing patterns of import and use in excavation and discovering how improving quarrying techniques and preliminary dressing of the extracted material influenced the final shape of artifacts ancient historians are now understanding quarry organization and bureaucracies that controlled marble production and trade art historians are seeing how physical characteristics of the stone affected the techniques and style of sculpture architects and engineers are interested in quarry technologies and usage in building construction These specialists drawn from many disciplines rarely have an opportunity to compare notes and see how each can contribute to the research effort of others

Industrial Minerals Patrick Degryse, Jan Elsen, 2003 This issue of Aardkundige Mededelingen deals with industrial minerals their resources characteristics and applications It is the result of an academic session on industrial minerals in honour of Em Prof Dr R Ottenburgs The contributions are organized according to five topics In a first part The Industrial Mineral World some considerations on our natural resources their use and political impact are presented In a second part of the study Aggregates and Natural Building Stone a number of case studies on the use of industrial minerals as aggregate and ornamental or building stone are discussed In a third part of the volume Mortar Cement and Concrete the study of ancient mortars as well as exploratory research into new materials is illustrated In a fourth session Clays and Soils environmental aspects of soils and the economical use of clay deposits are highlighted In a fifth and final part of the book Steel the link between ores and industrial minerals is made It is clear that the study of industrial minerals has many faces and covers many disciplines The impact of industrial minerals on the world's economy but also on the environment cannot be emphasized enough This book gives an overview of the wide and rich diversity of research currently performed in the realm of the industrial minerals

Materials, Technologies and Practice in Historic Heritage Structures Maria Bostenaru-Dan,Richard Pøikryl,Akos Török,2009-12-15 One distinct feature of human society since the dawn of civilization is the systematic use of inorganic building materials such as natural stone unburnt and burnt soil adobe and brick inorganic binders like lime and cement and reinforced concrete Our heritage has cultural architectural and technological value and preserving such structures is a key issue today Planners and conservation scientists need detailed site surveys and analyses to create a database that will serve to guide subsequent actions One factor in this knowledge base is an understanding of how historic materials were prepared and the crucial properties that influence their long term behaviour Any assessment of the way such materials perform must crucially be based on an understanding of the methods used for their analysis The editors here add to the knowledge base treating the materials used in historic structures their properties technology of use and conservation and their performance in a changing environment The book draws together 18 chapters dealing with the inorganic materials used in historic structures such as adobe brick stone mortars concrete and plasters The approach is complex covering material characterisation as well as several case studies of historic structures from Europe including Germany Ireland Italy Poland Portugal Scotland Slovenia and Spain and the My S n Temples in Vietnam An equally important component of the book covers the analysis of materials together with a treatment of sustainable development such as the protection of monuments from earthquakes and climate change The authors are all leading international experts drawn from a variety of backgrounds architecture civil engineering conservation science geology and material science with close links to professional organisations such as ICOMOS or universities and research centres throughout Europe Audience This book will be of interest to geologists engineers restorers consulting engineers designers and other professionals dealing with cultural heritage and sustainable development Also graduate students in applied geo science mineralogy geochemistry petrology architecture and civil engineering will find interesting information in this book ASMOSIA VII Association for the Study of Marble and Other Stones used in Antiquity. Kavala and the Institute of Geology and Mineral Exploration Thassos September 15 20 2003 Earth Sciences and Archaeology Paul Goldberg, Vance T. Holliday, C. Reid Ferring, 2013-11-11 Earth Sciences and Archaeology brings together contributions from an experienced group of archaeologists and geologists whose common objective is to present thorough and current reviews of the diverse ways in which methods from the earth sciences can contribute to archaeological research Many areas of research are addressed here including artifact analysis and sourcing landscape reconstruction and site formation analysis soil micromorphology and geophysical exploration of buried sites Archaeology has benefited from geological methods in many ways in recent decades However in the past ten to twenty years this informal collaboration between geologists and archaeologists has grown into a formal integration of earth science and archaeology on a significant scale This book allows the contributors to assess where we are in terms of interdisciplinary research which approaches work best in specific situations and where this collaborative approach should progress to in the future The Artists of the Ara Pacis Diane Atnally Conlin, 1997 Conlin questions the long held assumption that the friezes sculptors were anonymous Greek masters directly influenced by the reliefs carved on the Parthenon Through close analysis of the sculptures Conlin demonstrates that the carvers of the large processional friezes were actually Italian trained sculptors influenced by both native and Hellenic stonecarving practices Her conclusions rest on a systematic examination of the evidence left on the marble by the sculptors themselves the traces of tool marks the carving of specific details and the compositional formulas of the friezes Interdisciplinary Studies on Ancient Stone Association for the Study of Marble and Other Stones used in Antiquity. International Symposium, 2002 The Minnesota Pylos Project, 1990-98 Frederick A. Cooper, Diane Fortenberry, 2017 In 1990 the University of Minnesota carried out an architectural survey of the standing remains of the Bronze Age Palace of Nestor discovered by Carl Blegen in 1939 and excavated from 1952 to 1966 While the first stone by stone state plan of the building was being created it became clear that some of the architectural assumptions about the structure and its history could not be correct Over the next eight years the Blegen period backfill covering the site was systematically removed so that a complete architectural plan could be prepared The work was carried out using the protocols of an archaeological excavation Although only backfill was removed numerous unexpected finds were recovered ranging from discarded Linear B tablets and wall painting fragments to roof tiles and pottery in addition a detailed study of the architecture revealed evidence for startling new conclusions about the structure of the palace and the history of the site Part I New Studies at the Palace of Nestor With contributions by Todd M Brenningmeyer Frederick A Cooper Joshua N Distler Caitlin Downey Anne B Hollond Eleni M Konstantinidi Syvridi George Otto Marquardt Shawn A Ross Part II The Architecture of the Palace of Nestor by Michael C Nelson Materials Issues in Art and Archaeology V: Volume 462 Pamela B.
