Exploring Environmental Issues David D. Kemp,2004-07-31 Global warming ozone depletion drought acid rain their causes are viewed as extraordinarily complex their effects are assumed catastrophic Exploring Environmental Issues provides a key to understanding our potential crisis The concise introductory text presents a review of current environmental issues using a geographical approach that stresses the interrelationships between environment and societies This user friendly volume is an essential book for students and all who are concerned with the nature of contemporary environmental issues Information is presented in a refreshing manner utilising over 170 figures and 50 photographs Global boxed case studies are used throughout to highlight and explore issues in more detail The text also contains discussion points annotated further reading and an extensive glossary      Composition and the Rhetoric of Science Michael J Zerbe, 2007-03-21

Composition and the Rhetoric of Science Engaging the Dominant Discourse calls for instructors of first year writing courses to employ primary scientific discourse in their teaching and for rhetoricians of science to think about teaching scientific discourse as a literacy skill Author Michael J Zerbe argues that inclusion of scientific discourse is crucial because of this rhetoric's status as the dominant discourse in western culture The volume draws on Lyotard, Foucault and Althusser to argue that while important theorists such as these have recognized the dominance of scientific discourse rhetoric and composition has not to its detriment The text illustrates that scientific discourse remains a miniscule part of the enterprise of rhetoric and composition and thus the field is not fulfilling its mission of providing students with the writing and reading skills they need to live and work in a science and technology dependent society Zerbe provides an analysis of science popularizations and demonstrates how these works can be used to contextualize primary scientific research He also presents three pedagogical scenarios each built around a carefully chosen accessible example of scientific discourse that demonstrate how articles from scientific journals can be used in writing courses Only by gaining a meaningful fluency in this discourse one that is not offered by science textbooks can a more sophisticated scientific literacy be assured Composition and the Rhetoric of Science effectively explores the relatively limited amount of work done in rhetoric and composition on scientific discourse and questions this state of affairs Zerbe presents for the first time cultural studies and science literacy as gateways for incorporating scientific discourse into first year writing courses      Taking Sides: Clashing Views on Environmental Issues, Expanded James Bidlack, 2011-03-01

This 14th edition of Taking Sides Environmental presents two additional current controversial issues in a debate style format designed to stimulate student interest and develop critical thinking skills Each issue is thoughtfully framed with an issue summary an issue introduction and a postscript An instructors manual with testing material is available for each volume      Politics and the Environment Michael Howes, Griffith

University, Australia, 2013-10-31 An evenhanded realistic and thoughtful approach to identifying environmental problems and management goals Stephen Zavestoski Assistant Professor of Sociology and Environmental Studies University of San Francisco a theoretically advanced yet accessible treatment of environmental governance drawing on an impressive range of material to investigate the roles of states and industries in addressing environmental problems Harriet Bulkeley Department of Geography University of Durham Written in the vein of critical optimism this book is pitched at the right level to inspire people trying to make pragmatic changes to their governmental and industrial systems trying to make a difference where it counts Timothy Doyle Associate Professor in Geographical and Environmental Studies University of Adelaide What is the future for our environment We face serious risks of major industrial accidents and global environmental degradation yet new technological developments promise a standard of living unimaginable only a few generations ago Michael Howes outlines the ways in which governments have responded to environmental risk over the past four decades He examines the key environmental issues and the claims of envirosceptics offering a new strategy for making major administrative decisions in the face of uncertainty He explains how governments have developed environmental policy and the ongoing tensions between science industry the state social movements and electoral politics In a clear straightforward manner he shows how to use the work of theorists Ulrich Beck Michel Foucault and John Dryzek to analyse environmental policy He also develops a new method of measuring the effectiveness of environmental governance in developed countries Howes draws on a wide array of sources from business government environment groups academic research and NGOs to illustrate his arguments with comparisons between the environmental policies of the UK the USA and Australia      Taking Sides Environmental Issues Thomas A.
