Classroom Publishing A Practical Guide To Enhancing Student Literacy:

Classroom Publishing Laurie King, Dennis Stovall, 1992 The authors provide students with the know how to experience the world of publishing and at the same time use learn and appreciate the English language Sustainable Solutions:

University-Community Partnerships B.D. Wortham-Galvin, Jennifer H. Allen, Jacob Sherman, 2017-09-08 What is the role of the university Current systems may stress research output but Wortham Galvin Allen and Sherman seek to re establish the importance of teaching and service in the work of the 21st century university The Sustainable Solutions series shares Portland State University s experience of community engaged teaching and research With a focus on sustainability we see that such collaboration is vital to making Portland one of the world s most sustainable cities Volume 2 University Community Partnerships builds on the themes introduced in Volume 1 Let Knowledge Serve the City to explore how these partnerships play out in practice Covering 13 projects which range from supporting local artisans and researching food access to sharing Indigenous history and decolonizing perceptions of knowledge readers receive pragmatic advice on working with community organizations Authors also offer critical reflection on how theories of engagement have structured PSU s work and how their findings impact our very understanding of partnership This reader friendly text provides an ideal introduction to anyone wishing to learn more about models of effective collaboration and how to put these into practice Explained through the context of specific projects the book offers both inspiration and practical guidance to anyone in local government academia or the third sector looking to set up productive community university partnerships Electronic Collaboration in the Humanities James A. Inman, Cheryl Reed, Peter Sands, 2003-10-03 This volume provides an informed view of how information technology is shaping the contemporary humanities It specifically reflects five ideals humanities scholars with all levels of access are doing important work with technology humanities scholars projects with technology reflect significant diversity both across and within disciplinary bounds using information technology in the humanities is a continuous conversation information technology offers new options for humanities education and just as collaboration changes the nature of any project so does information technology change the nature of collaboration its speed character methods and possible implementations The first to explore new and important ways for humanities scholars to collaborate across disciplines via electronic media this book redefines electronic collaboration presents insightful models of student collaboration provides important models of faculty collaboration with special emphasis on professional development and offers a look at the future of electronic collaboration and the overall future of the humanities Featuring the voices of humanities teacher scholars at all stages of their professional careers the chapters emphasize pedagogy outlining contemporary issues and options Electronic Collaboration in the Humanities speaks directly to anyone involved with interdisciplinary initiatives in colleges and universities such as writing across the curriculum and communication across the curriculum programs and to specific populations within the humanities including literacy and technology language and literature literacy studies professional writing and English education Arts in Corrections Grady Hillman, 2022-10-25 In Arts in Corrections the author a poet translator and teacher takes readers on a chronological journey through an annotated selection of 24 of his own publications from 1981 to 2014 which recount his experiences teaching consulting and documenting US arts programs in prisons jails and juvenile facilities Anyone interested in corrections and arts in corrections will be drawn in by the poetic sensibility Hillman brings to his writing Readers will gain a historical and personal perspective not only into correctional arts programming in the US over the last 40 years but also the institutional transformations in policy culture populations economics and the criminological mission expansion into other institutional settings like K 12 education Original essays articles monographs and poems are interspersed with recent annotations to deliver not only a top down view of the correctional system but also the author's personal journey of discouragement and hope from work conducted in approximately 200 adult and juvenile facilities in 30 states and six countries This comprehensive book is essential reading for a broad cross section of international readers interested in and involved in the arts in corrections field With two million individuals behind bars in the US at any given time the profile of arts programs in prisons and jails is rising and interest in criminal justice matters more generally is increasing This includes not only arts in corrections professionals policy makers students researchers advocates and academics but professionals in multiple other fields as well as the general public Teaching Language Arts in Middle Schools Sharon Kingen, 2000-02-01 This text is designed specifically to meet the needs of preservice teachers who have had little experience working in middle grade classrooms Three ideas are central teaching language arts at the middle level is a complex activity that demands expertise in the use of a variety of strategies reading and writing are key processes of language arts study but so are speaking listening and viewing visually representing and teaching the processes of effective communication is crucial but middle school students must also begin to learn the content of the field literature language and media Teaching Language Arts in Middle Schools gives balanced attention to various teaching strategies processes and content demonstrating how all of these connect to improve students abilities to communicate In this text Research and theory are summarized and applied to practice A non prescriptive approach is integrated with practical information Debates in the field are acknowledged Additional reading and research are emphasized The author's voice and point of view are explicit

Young People and the Future of News Lynn Schofield Clark, Regina Marchi, 2017-09-21 Young People and the Future of News traces the practices that are evolving as young people come to see news increasingly as something shared via social networks and social media rather than produced and circulated solely by professional news organizations The book introduces the concept of connective journalism clarifying the role of creating and sharing stories online as a key precursor to collective and connective political action At the center of the story are high school students from low income minority and immigrant communities who often feel underserved or misrepresented by mainstream media but express a strong interest in politics and their communities Drawing on in depth field work in three major urban areas over the course of ten years Young People and the Future of News sheds light on how young people share news that they think others should know about express solidarity and bring into being new publics and counter publics Within and Beyond the Writing Process in the Secondary English Classroom Reade W.
