Debating Islam In The Jewish State The Development Of Polic:

Debating Islam in the Jewish State Alisa Rubin Peled, 2012-02-01 Using declassified documents from Israeli archives Alisa Rubin Peled explores the development implementation and reform of the state's Islamic policy from 1948 to 2000 She addresses how Muslim communal institutions developed and whether Israel formulated a distinct Islamic policy toward shari'a courts waqf charitable endowments holy places and religious education Her analysis reveals the contradictions and nuances of a policy driven by a wide range of motives and implemented by a diverse group of government authorities illustrating how Israeli policies produced a co-opted religious establishment lacking popular support and paved the way for a daring challenge by a grassroots Islamist Movement since the 1980s As part of a wider debate on early Israeli history she challenges the idea that Israeli policy was part of a greater monolithic policy toward the Arab minority

Institutionalizing Rights and Religion Leora Batnitzky, Hanoch Dagan, 2017-03-23 Modern statesmen and political theorists have long struggled to design institutions that will simultaneously respect individual freedom of religion nurture religion's capacity to be a force for civic good and human rights and tame religion's illiberal tendencies Moving past the usual focus on personal free expression of religion this illuminating book written by renowned scholars of law and religion from the United States England and Israel considers how the institutional design of both religions and political regimes influences the relationship between religious practice and activity and human rights The authors examine how the organization of religious communities affects human rights and investigate the scope of a just state's authority with respect to organized religion in the name of human rights They explore the institutional challenges posed by and possible responses to the fraught relationship between religion and rights in the world today
