Deconstructing Development Discourse In Peru A Meta Ethnography Of The Modernity Project At Vicos:

Deconstructing Development Discourse in Peru William W. Stein, 2003 The Vicos Project was a major effort to apply anthropology to community development in a rural community of Andean Peru in the 1950s Deconstructing Development Discourse in Peru is a retrospective examination of the Vicos research and development project through a poststructuralist lens William Stein details the work of North American researchers with emphasis on factors which limited their capacity to engage in development Stein endeavors to apply the work of the French philosopher Jacques Derrida as an aid in the interpretation of events and reactions of both North American and Peruvian researchers

Imagining Modernity in the Andes Priscilla Archibald, 2011-01-06 This interdisciplinary work deals with the intersection of projects of modernity with constructions of race and ethnicity in the Andes The book analyzes indigenista writings the multidisciplinary work of os Mar a Arguedas and the anthropological experiments of the nineteen fifties It addresses the relevance of transculturation theory in a transnational age and analyzes the emergence of new visual media in a cultural context long defined by the oral textual divide

A Companion to Latin American Anthropology Deborah Poole, 2015-12-21 Comprised of 24 newly commissioned chapters this defining reference volume on Latin America introduces English language readers to the debates traditions and sensibilities that have shaped the study of this diverse region Contributors include some of the most prominent figures in Latin American and Latin Americanist anthropology Offers previously unpublished work from Latin America scholars that has been translated into English explicitly for this volume Includes overviews of national anthropologies in Mexico Cuba Peru Argentina Ecuador Bolivia Colombia and Brazil and is also topically focused on new research Draws on original ethnographic and archival research Highlights national and regional debates Provides a vivid sense of how anthropologists often combine intellectual and political work to address the pressing social and cultural issues of Latin America

Toward Engaged Anthropology Sam Beck, Carl A. Maida, 2013-07-01 By working with underserved communities anthropologists may play a larger role in democratizing society The growth of disparities challenges anthropology to be used for social justice This engaged stance moves the application of anthropological theory methods and practice toward action and activism However this engagement also moves anthropologists away from traditional roles of observation toward participatory roles that become increasingly involved with those communities or social groupings being studied The chapters in this book suggest the roles anthropologists are able to play to bring us closer to a public anthropology characterized as engagement

The Corner of the Living Miguel La Serna, 2012-03-12 Peru's indigenous peoples played a key role in the tortured tale of Shining Path guerrillas from the 1960s through the first decade of the twenty first century The villagers of Chuschi and Huaychao high in the mountains of the department of Ayacucho have an iconic place in this violent history Emphasizing the years leading up to the peak period of violence from 1980 to 2000 when 69 000 people lost their lives Miguel La Serna asks why some Andean peasants chose to embrace Shining Path ideology and others did not Drawing on archival materials and ethnographic field work La Serna argues that historically rooted and locally specific power relations social conflicts and cultural understandings shaped the responses of indigenous peasants to the insurgency In Chuschi the guerrillas found indigenous support for the movement and dreamed of sparking a worldwide Maoist revolution In Huaychao by contrast villagers rose up against Shining Path forces precipitating more violence and feeding an international uproar that took on political significance for Peru during the Cold War The Corner of the Living illuminates both the stark realities of life for the rural poor everywhere and why they may or may not choose to mobilize around a revolutionary cause

Women's Place in the Andes Florence E. Babb, 2018-05-25 In Women's Place in the Andes Florence E Babb draws on four decades of anthropological research to reexamine the complex interworkings of gender race and indigeneity in Peru and beyond She deftly interweaves five new analytical chapters with six of her previously published works that exemplify currents in feminist anthropology and activism Babb argues that decolonizing feminism and engaging more fully with interlocutors from the South will lead to a deeper understanding of the iconic Andean women who are subjects of both national pride and everyday scorn This book's novel approach goes on to set forth a collaborative methodology for rethinking gender and race in the Americas

Quinoa Linda J. Seligmann, 2023-01-10 Quinoa's new status as a superfood has altered the economic fortunes of Quechua farmers in the Andean highlands Linda J Seligmann journeys to the Huanochaca region of Peru to track the mixed blessings brought about by the surging worldwide popularity of this exquisite grain Focusing on how Indigenous communities have confronted globalization Seligmann examines the influence of food politics development initiatives and the region's agrarian history on present day quinoa production among Huanochacaños She also looks at the human stories behind these transformations from the work of quinoa brokers to the ways Huanochacaños men and women navigate the shifts in place and power occurring in their homes and communities Finally Seligmann considers how the consequences of nearby mining may impact Huanochacaños ability to farm quinoa and thrive in their environment and the efforts they are taking to resist these threats to their way of life The untold story behind the popular health food Quinoa illuminates how Indigenous communities have engaged with the politics and policies surrounding their production of a traditional and minor crop that became a global foodstuff

Dimensions of Development Susan Vincent, 2012-01-01 Dimensions of Development traces the development of Allpachico a village in the Peruvian central highlands Susan Vincent examines four aid projects in the area each following distinct international trends that took place between 1984 and 2008 within the context of wider state and global political and economic systems A unique historical ethnography Dimensions of Development illustrates how state and NGO projects have drawn Allpachicoños deeper into capitalism and have brought about challenges to the local political structure the comunidad campesina While highlighting the continual reorganization of the local population into new groups Vincent also reveals why the comunidad remains the group s preferred form of representation Vicos William E. Vandiveer,1989
