Anspach,1993 In a probing look at the reality of everyday choices in neonatal intensive care units sociologist Renee Anspach explores the life and death dilemmas that have fueled much national debate Anspach considers the roles of parents doctors nurses and bioethicists in deciding the fate of terminally ill or malformed newborns

The Practice of Autonomy Carl Schneider,1998 Exploring what patients do want gives direction to the author s inquiry into what they should want What patients want he believes is properly more complex and ambiguous than being empowered In this book he charts that ambiguity to take the autonomy principle past current pieties into the uncertain realities of the sick room and the hospital ward The Practice of Autonomy is a sympathetic but trenchant study of the animating principle of modern bioethics It speaks with freshness insight and even passion to bioethicists and moral philosophers about their theories to lawyers about their methods to medical sociologists about their subject to policy makers about their ambitions to doctors about their work and to patients about their lives BOOK JACKET

Parental Rights, Best Interests and Significant Harms Imogen Goold,Jonathan Herring,Cressida Auckland,2019-11-28 This timely collection brings together philosophical legal and sociological perspectives on the crucial question of who should make decisions about the fate of a child suffering from a serious illness In particular the collection looks at whether the current best interests threshold is the appropriate boundary for legal intervention or whether it would be more appropriate to adopt the risk of significant harm approach proposed in Gard It explores the roles of parents doctors and the courts in making decisions on behalf of children actively drawing on perspectives from the clinic as well as academia and practice In doing so it teases out the potential risks of inappropriate state intrusion in parental decision making and considers how we might address them The Sociology of
