Overview of risk-informed decision-making processes Enrico Zio, Nicola

Pedroni, 2012-10-01 The authors introduce the general concepts definitions and issues related to the use of Risk informed decision making RIDM These are structured processes which assist decision makers when faced with high impact complex decisions involving multiple objectives and the presence of uncertainty They aim to ensure that decisions between competing alternatives are taken with an awareness of the risks associated with each option and that all attributes of a decision are considered in an integrated manner Motivations for the use of these techniques as a complement to more traditional deterministic approaches to risk assessment are provided The RIDM processes adopted by NASA and by the US Nuclear Regulatory Commission are described in detail with an analysis of commonalities and differences in approach

Social and Economic Factors in Decision Making under Uncertainty Kinga Posadzy, 2017-11-16 The objective of this thesis is to improve the understanding of human behavior that goes beyond monetary rewards In particular it investigates social influences in individual s decision making in situations that involve coordination competition and deciding for others Further it compares how monetary and social outcomes are perceived The common theme of all studies is uncertainty The first four essays study individual decisions that have uncertain consequences be it due to the actions of others or chance The last essay in turn uses the advances in research on decision making under uncertainty to predict behavior in riskless choices The first essay Fairness Versus Efficiency How Procedural Fairness Concerns Affect Coordination investigates whether preferences for fair rules undermine the efficiency of coordination mechanisms that put some individuals at a disadvantage The results from a laboratory experiment show that the existence of coordination mechanisms such as action recommendations increases efficiency even if one party is strongly disadvantaged by the mechanism Further it is demonstrated that while individuals behavior does not depend on the fairness of the coordination mechanism their beliefs about people s behavior do The second essay Dishonesty and Competition Evidence from a stiff competition environment explores whether and how the possibility to behave dishonestly affects the willingness to compete and who the winner is in a competition between similarly skilled individuals We do not find differences in competition entry between competitions in which dishonesty is possible and in which it is not However we find that due to the heterogeneity in propensity to behave dishonestly around 20% of winners are not the best performing individuals This implies that the efficient allocation of resources cannot be ensured in a stiff competition in which behavior is unmonitored The third essay Tracing Risky Decision Making for Oneself and Others The Role of Intuition and Deliberation explores how individuals make choices under risk for themselves and on behalf of other people The findings demonstrate that while there are no differences in preferences for taking risks when deciding for oneself and for others individuals have greater decision error when choosing for other individuals The differences in the decision error can be partly attributed to the differences in information processing individuals employ more deliberative cognitive processing when deciding for themselves than when deciding for others Conducting more information processing when deciding for others is related to the reduction in decision error The fourth essay The Effect of Decision Fatigue on Surgeons Clinical Decision Making investigates how mental depletion caused by a long session of decision making affects surgeon s decision to operate Exploiting a natural experiment we find that surgeons are less likely to schedule an operation for patients who have appointment late during the work shift than for patients who have appointment at the beginning of the work shift Understanding how the quality of medical decisions depends on when the patient is seen is important for achieving both efficiency and fairness in health care where long shifts are popular The fifth essay Preferences for Outcome Editing in Monetary and Social Contexts compares whether individuals use the same rules for mental representation of monetary outcomes e g purchases expenses as for social outcomes e g having nice time with friends Outcome editing is an operation in mental accounting that determines whether individuals prefer to first combine multiple outcomes before their evaluation integration or evaluate each outcome separately segregation I find that the majority of individuals express different preferences for outcome editing in the monetary context than in the social context Further while the results on the editing of monetary outcomes are consistent with theoretical predictions no existing model can explain the editing of social outcomes
