Decision Analysis for Program Evaluation Mark S. Thompson, 1982 Decision Analysis for Program Evaluators Gordon F. Pitz, 1984 Decision Analysis Technique for Program Evaluation (Goal Programming). Thomas J. McGeehan, AUERBACH ASSOCIATES INC PHILADELPHIA PA., 1977 A mathematical decision model for information service planning was derived from administrative goals Program plans are assessed in the context of performance goals for six areas available staff available budget program effectiveness functional requirements basic service requirements investment programs to insure future progress The technique is an extension of linear programming that calculates optimal solutions to decision problems in the areas of resource allocation policy analysis and program evaluation according to a set of preemptive priorities established by management The report includes a program in FORTRAN 4 for computing solutions Author An Application of Decision Analysis to Variable Selection in Program Evaluation Judith Silverman Ames, 1982 Decision Analysis for Program Evaluators Gordon F. Pitz, Jack McKillip, 1984-09 Programme evaluation covers a wide range of decision making activities from problem conceptualization through to integration of information In addition the results of evaluation activities are closely connected with the need to make decisions and formulate policy This book shows how decision analysis can be used as part of the process of need assessment outcome evaluation and policy analysis Decision Analysis for Healthcare Managers Farrokh Alemi, David H. Gustafson, 2006-11-15 Should we invest in a new electronic health record system What public policy should we develop to tackle this health issue What are the root causes for medical errors in our facility Should our hospital merge with another organization This book will help you build the skills you need to answer complex management and policy questions The first part of the book explains the various analytical tools that simplify and accelerate decision making Learn about tools that help you determine causes evaluate choices and forecast future events For occasions when a group rather than an individual has to make a decision you will also learn what tools can help you create group consensus The second half of the book shows you how to apply analytical tools to different healthcare situations including comparing clinician performance determining the causes for medical errors analyzing the costs of programs and determining the market for new services Many practical examples walk you step by step through common decision making scenarios Companion website enhances learning and clarifies concepts Access a comprehensive companion website that includes additional tools for building decision making skills At the companion website you can Listen to narrated lectures of key points View students examples of rapid analysis exercises Follow animated examples of how to use computer programs to conduct an analysis Link to websites that provide additional information including access to software and online tools that aid decision analysis Download PowerPoint slides that highlight important concepts of each chapter Decision Analysis for Program Evaluators Gordon F. Pitz, Jack McKillip, 1984 Programme evaluation covers a wide range of decision making activities from problem conceptualization through to integration of information In addition the results of evaluation activities are closely connected with the need to make decisions and formulate policy This book shows how the principles of decision analysis can be used by programme evaluators as part of the process of need assessment outcome evaluation and policy analysis The majority of the book is devoted to a description of multiattribute utility theory and to the analytic methods that are derived from the theory The authors assume no technical background beyond elementary algebra and present applications of decision analysis to evaluators in a variety of fields

Decision Analysis of Conditional Programs Using Program Evaluation and Review Technique- PERT Stephen A. Staub,1966

Decision-Aiding Software and Legal

Decision-Making Stuart S. Nagel,1989-09-26 The use of microcomputers as decision aids in law practice is increasing rapidly Nagel here shows how developments in software over the last few years are making microcomputers practically indispensable to lawyers as decision aids This is in contrast to his earlier book on Microcomputers as Decision Aids in Law Practice It dealt speculatively with ways in which decision aiding software could be used by lawyers for judicial prediction litigation strategy allocating scarce resources and negotiation mediation The book is divided into three parts covering general developments specific lawyer skills and application to all fields of law The first part previews various uses of decision aiding software by practicing lawyers including a general discussion of the potential and actual benefits of such software How decision aiding software enhances specific lawyer skills comprises the second and largest part of the work Among the topics discussed are computer aided counseling computer aided mediation legal policy evaluation and computer aided advocacy law prediction and legal administration In the third part Nagel assesses applications of decision aiding software to all fields of law with an emphasis on contracts property torts family law criminal law constitutional law economic regulation international law civil procedure and criminal procedure In a provocative concluding chapter he deals with the thorny issues of individual ethics and professional responsibility in the context of microcomputers Because decision aiding software encourages decision makers to be much more explicit about their goals than they otherwise would be its use raises questions as to whose goals should be pursued and to what degree This is a nuts and bolts guidebook that will be a valuable tool for practicing attorneys with some knowledge of microcomputers and is recommended reading for legal scholars and law students

Toxicological Risk Assessment: General criteria and case studies ,1985 Evaluating Human Resource Development Programs Oliver T. Massey,1996 The authors provide a detailed introduction and discussion of the most important techniques available to evaluators for assessing human resource development programs They present broad practical coverage of conceptual and methodological issues Techniques discussed include quantitative and qualitative methods The strength of this book is its simple practical approach to describing the uses of evaluation methods and the inevitable advantages and disadvantages of each technique Each chapter discusses evaluation techniques including a fundamental description of the technique examples of its use in practical settings advantages and disadvantages and important points to remember Evaluators of Human Resource Development Programs in Public Health Agencies A Longwood

Professional Book Handbook of Research Design and Social Measurement Delbert C. Miller,1991-07-05 Includes bibliographical references and index Courses and Degrees Stanford University,1982 Basic Methods of Policy Analysis and Planning Carl V. Patton,David S. Sawicki,1986 The book focuses on basic quickly applied policy analysis methods that can be used to resolve policy problems There are relevant real life examples used throughout Prevention Effectiveness Anne C. Haddix,Steven M. Teutsch,Phaedra S. Corso,2002-10-24 As public accountability has increased and resources have become scarcer public health like clinical medicine has been forced to re examine the benefits and costs of its activities Decision and economic analysis are basic tools in carrying out that mission These methods have become standard practice in clinical medicine and health services research This book now in its second edition was written in an effort to apply and adapt that experience with public health situations The book was originally written to introduce Centers for Disease Control and Prevention staff to the concepts of decision and economic analysis to provide guidance on methods to maximize comparability of studies and to provide access to frequently used reference information It has been adapted to meet the needs of scientists and managers in state and local health departments and managed care organizations as well as students in schools of public health and clinicians for an introductory text a text that shows how these methods can be applied in population based practice to facilitate better comparability of studies and to solidify understanding of the scientific basis for use of these tools in decision making Decision makers will learn how these studies are conducted so they can be critical consumers understanding the strengths and limitations and apply findings to policy and practice The second edition updates and expands upon the standard methodology for conducting prevention effectiveness analyses Each chapter has been revised or re written The chapters on measuring effectiveness decision analysis and making information useful for decision makers as well as several appendices are entirely new Social Science, Law and Public Policy Stuart Nagel,Lisa Bievenue,1992-01-27 This book provides a grand sweep of the relations among social science law and public policy over the past 30 years The emphasis is on three stages in social science development They include establishing relationships optimizing decisions and multi criteria decision making with decision aiding software The applications are in law public policy and other substantive aspects of social science The book provides an integration of the behavioralism of the 19 60s the policy relevance of the 1970s and the software revolution of the 1980s For each time period there were important developments in the integration of law policy and social science Some of the underlying goals beneath those developments include obtaining knowledge from empirical sources useful knowledge causal explanations improved quality of life technological innovation encouragement of socially desired behavior and still higher goals Systems Approach to Evaluating Innovations for Integration Into Highway Practice National Cooperative Highway Research Program,2000 Transportation Research Board National Research Council TIMS/ORSA Bulletin Institute of Management Sciences,1992 An Introductory Guide to EC Competition Law and Practice Valentine Korah,1994
