Gambrill, 1983 Abstract This guide describes decision making procedures for supervisors in social service agencies that can be used to increase the likelihood that clients will receive effective services Topics focus on the technical justification for employing a systematic decision making procedure and the role of supervision in social work a framework for balancing tracking and designating priorities for incoming work a specific tracking procedure covering work planning follow up and output guidelines for reviewing the quality of assessment intervention and evaluation methods coordination of services provided methods to encourage effective staff behavior guidelines for selecting staff training programs a summary of important interpersonal competencies and practical suggestions for continued maintenance of effective supervisory skills

Child Welfare Neil A. Cohen, 2000 Distinguished by its multicultural approach this book provides an up to date survey of child welfare including an overview of the generalist perspective a history of child welfare and a discussion of child welfare services It analyzes the many changes in child welfare policy since the early 1990s and includes case examples to provide topical and multicultural illustrations of the concepts presented The lead author and chapter contributors are in the forefront of new developments in child welfare The Second Edition features chapters on working with diverse family systems including African American Hispanic Asian and Pacific Islander and American Indian families The updated discussion of child welfare policy addresses Family Preservation the Multi Ethnic Placement Act and the Welfare Reform Act of 1996 New material is also presented on child maltreatment and child welfare in rural America kinship care the link between the community and the family and managed care For anyone interested in child welfare and recent changes in child welfare policy Child Welfare Lela B. Costin, Cynthia Johnson Bell, Susan Downs, 1991 Child Welfare and the Law Theodore J. Stein, 1991 Federal and state legislative actions affect the number of programs available to help children and their families In this book the author a professor of social welfare as well as an attorney provides an overview of the child welfare and judicial systems then examines the federal and state legislative and judicial foundations of modern child welfare practice court decisions and their impact on the rights of birthparents foster parents and children class action suits and their impact on child welfare and the role of child welfare workers in the legal process Appendices provide detailed instruction on conducting legal research and excerpts from a consent decree Assessing Risk in Child Protection Hedy Cleaver, Corinne Wattam, Pat Cawson, 1998 The assessment of risk to children from their own families is one of the most sensitive and difficult tasks faced by social workers The Department of Health commissioned the NSPCC to find ways of feeding research evidence into day to day social work practice The pack includes a separate booklet Ten pitfalls and how to avoid them which summarizes the main research findings and takes social workers through the stages of the crucial first interview with a family when an allegation of abuse or neglect has been made Also included is a chart helping with information collection at referral stage This publication is aimed at social workers new to child protection their managers and social work students Preserving Families Ying-Ying T. Yuan, Michele Rivest, 1990-04 Providing excellent insights into evaluation Preserving Families examines the issues related to describing and evaluating social programs for families and children The focus is on keeping the family intact rather than those programs that emphasize removing the child from the family setting The contributors offer an in depth discussion of program features that are important for conducting an evaluation including program description target populations client outcomes cost analysis and evaluation design Each chapter raises issues that are pertinent to designing a comprehensive or a special focus study including a detailed description of program components Preserving Families is an essential tool for understanding policy analysis and program evaluation and also provides practical case materials for classroom instruction The monograph offers a number of suggestions and illustrations for making evaluations relevant to real world policymakers and program managers It is a great tool that will help demystify evaluation and will help people in the family preservation field and in related fields feel competent in helping define and shape the evaluation agenda in ways that will produce useful and usable findings It provides great case material for classroom instruction in program evaluation and policy analysis Sandy M O Donnell Roosevelt University Offers a comprehensive assessment of evaluation resources for practitioners and policy makers It provides a sound overview of the uses of evaluation as well the construction of study designs including defining a target population fitting evaluation to a program environment appraising outcome measures and cost analysis This collection is valuable to any professional working in the field of family based home based or family preservation services Family Based Resource Review The editors have succeeded in providing a volume that will be helpful not only to family service evaluators and administrators but also to family policy instructors and researchers Journal of Marriage and the Family This manual makes an invaluable contribution to the family preservation movement the centerpiece of child welfare reform This comprehensive how to step by step guide arrives at a crucial time meeting a growing demand for evaluation for family preservation services Experts in the child welfare and mental health fields have provided a pertinent and easily understood response to an urgent question How can a design for an evaluation be produced that will provide reliable data for practitioners administrators and policymakers Esther Wattenberg University of Minnesota Provides the most current information on crisis intervention work with high risk multiproblem families For readers interested in program evaluation of family preservation services the book is a must Read Preserving Families for thoughtful practical suggestions relative to evaluating family preservation programs Journal of Marital and Family Therapy The importance of accurate and available evaluation to social policy formulation is a critical issue that is often ignored because this type of research is generally lacking Special research techniques and methods need to be considered in order to answer policy questions This book is an important contribution to that end The methods and techniques described by these authors are certainly applicable to other social service policy areas as well Clearly written this is a volume for hands on planners and evaluators it is not intimidating nor is it condescending Family Relations Research Issues in Risk Assessment for Child Protection American Association for Protecting Children,1989 Family Preservation Services Kathleen Wells,1991-02 This volume assesses the effectiveness of programmes dating back to the 1970s which sought to reorient child welfare service away from care placements and towards programmes with more emphasis on the family The questions considered include whether children in these programmes are representative of the population of children at risk for out of home placement whether these children improve after being involved in the programmes and what key approaches and features of the programmes are most effective Supervision Eileen D. Gambrill,Theodore J. Stein,1983 BC Studies ,1998 International Child Welfare Review ,1983 Vol 2 accompanied by Special number Public Welfare ,1990 Child Welfare and Family Services Susan Downs,Lela B.
