Decoding Abortion Rhetoric The Communication Of Social Change:

Decoding Abortion Rhetoric Celeste Michelle Condit, 1990 Condit provides a close look at how pro life and pro choice arguments have helped shape the development of public policy and private practice She offers readers an orderly way through the barrage of rhetoric and an opportunity to identify and clarify our own opinions on a very difficult subject

Decoding Abortion Rhetoric Celeste Michelle Condit, 1990 Circulation, Writing, and Rhetoric Laurie Gries, Collin Gifford Brooke, 2018-04-15 While it has long been understood that the circulation of discourse bodies artifacts and ideas plays an important constitutive force in our cultures and communities circulation as a concept and a phenomenon has been underexamined in studies of rhetoric and writing In an effort to give circulation its rhetorical due Circulation Writing and Rhetoric introduces a wide range of studies that foreground circulation in both theory and practice Contributors to the volume specifically explore the connections between circulation and public rhetorics urban studies feminist rhetorics digital communication new materialism and digital research Circulation is a cultural rhetorical process that impacts various ecologies communities and subjectivities in an ever increasing globally networked environment As made evident in this collection circulation occurs in all forms of discursive production from academic arguments to neoliberal policies to graffiti to tweets and bitcoins Even in the case of tombstones borrowed text achieves only partial stability before it is recirculated and transformed again This communicative process is even more evident in the digital realm the underlying infrastructures of which we have yet to fully understand As public spaces become more and more saturated with circulating texts and images and as networked relations come to the center of rhetorical focus Circulation Writing and Rhetoric will be a vital interdisciplinary resource for approaching the contemporary dynamics of rhetoric and writing Contributors Aaron Beveridge Casey Boyle Jim Brown Naomi Clark D nielle Nicole DeVoss Rebecca Dingo Sidney I Dobrin Jay Dolmage Dustin Edwards Jessica Enoch Tarez Samra Graban Byron Hawk Gerald Jackson Gesa E Kirsch Heather Lang Sean Morey Jenny Rice Thomas Rickert Jim Ridolfo Nathaniel A Rivers Jacqueline Jones Royster Donnie Johnson Sackey Michele Simmons Dale M Smith Patricia Sullivan John Tinnell Kathleen Blake Yancey Persuasive Imagery Linda M. Scott, Rajeev Batra, 2003-04-02 This volume synthesizes and advances existing knowledge of consumer response to visuals Representing an interdisciplinary perspective contributors include scholars from the disciplines of communication psychology and marketing The book begins with an overview section intended to situate the reader in the discourse The overview describes the state of knowledge in both academic research and actual practice and provides concrete sources for scholars to pursue Written in a non technical language this volume is divided into four sections Image and Response illustrates the difficulty encountered even in investigating the basic influences processes and effects of mere exposure to imagery Image and Word presents instances in which the line between words and pictures is blurred such as the corporate logo which is often pictorial in nature but communicates on an abstract level usually attributed to words Image and the Ad contributes to our appreciation for the exquisite variations among advertising texts and the resultant variability in response not only to different ads but among different viewers of the same ad Image and Object carries the inquiry of visual response over the bridge toward object interaction Having traveled a path that has gone from the precise working of the brain in processing visual stimuli all the way to the history of classical architecture readers of this volume will have a new respect for the complexity of human visual response and the research that is trying to explain it It will be of interest to those involved in consumer behavior consumer psychology advertising marketing and visual communication

The Routledge Handbook of Contemporary Feminism Tasha Oren, Andrea Press, 2019-05-16 Feminism as a method a movement a critique and an identity has been the subject of debates contestations and revisions in recent years yet contemporary global developments and political upheavals have again refocused feminism's collective force What is feminism now How do scholars and activists employ contemporary feminism What feminist traditions endure Which are no longer relevant in addressing contemporary global conditions In this interdisciplinary collection scholars reflect on how contemporary feminism has shaped their thinking and their field as they interrogate its uses limits and reinventions Organized as a set of questions over definition everyday life critical intervention and political activism the Handbook takes on a broad set of issues and points of view to consider what feminism is today and what current forces shape its future development It also includes an extended conversation among major feminist thinkers about the future of feminist scholarship and activism The scholars gathered here address a wide variety of topics and contexts activism from post Soviet collectives to the Arab spring to the MeToo movement sexual harassment feminist art film and digital culture education technology policy sexual practices and gender identity Indispensable for scholars undergraduate and postgraduate students in women gender and sexuality the collection offers a multidimensional picture of the diversity and utility of feminist thought in an age of multiple uncertainties

Crafting Equality Celeste Michelle Condit, John Louis Lucaites, 2012-12-10 Philosophers and historians often treat fundamental concepts like equality as if they existed only as fixed ideas found solely in the canonical texts of civilization In Crafting Equality Celeste Michelle Condit and John Louis Lucaites argue that the meaning of at least one key word equality has been forged in the day to day pragmatics of public discourse Drawing upon little studied speeches newspapers magazines and other public discourse Condit and Lucaites survey the shifting meaning of equality from 1760 to the present as a process of interaction and negotiation among different social groups in American politics and culture They make a powerful case for the critical role of black Americans in actively shaping what equality has come to mean in our political conversation by chronicling the development of an African American rhetorical community The story they tell supports a vision of equality that embraces both heterogeneity and homogeneity as necessary for maintaining the balance between liberty and property A compelling revision of an important aspect of America's history Crafting Equality will interest anyone wanting to better understand the role public discourse plays in affecting the major social and political issues of our times It will also interest readers concerned with the relationship between politics and culture in America's increasingly multi cultural society Contemporary Rhetorical Theory John Louis Lucaites, Celeste Michelle Condit, Sally Caudill, 1999-01-01 This indispensable text brings together important essays on the themes issues and controversies that have shaped the development of rhetorical theory since the late 1960s An extensive introduction and epilogue by the editors thoughtfully examine the current state of the field and its future directions focusing in particular on how theorists are negotiating the tensions between modernist and postmodernist considerations Each of the volume's eight main sections comprises a brief explanatory introduction four to six essays selected for their enduring significance and suggestions for further reading Topics addressed include problems of defining rhetoric the relationship between rhetoric and epistemology the rhetorical situation reason and public morality the nature of the audience the role of discourse in social change rhetoric in the mass media and challenges to rhetorical theory from the margins An extensive subject index facilitates comparison of key concepts and principles across all of the essays featured THE QUARTERLY JOURNAL OF SPEECH, 1997 Readings on the Rhetoric of Social Protest Charles E. Morris, Stephen H. Browne, 2006 The University of Georgia Red Book University of Georgia, 1994 The Anti-abortion Movement Dallas A. Blanchard, 1996 Blanchard then offers insightful annotations on a wide variety of essential resources including writings on major movement organizations anti abortion support and service organizations political activities and events movement tactics membership recruitment and training the movement and the media and the religious basis of the movement The Reporter on Human Reproduction and the Law, 1971 The Publishers Weekly, 1990 The Parent's Desk Reference Irene M. Franck, David M. Brownstone, 1991 An encyclopedia about parenting with over 2 000 entries covering all aspects of child rearing from A to Z Persuasion and Social Movements Charles J. Stewart, Craig Allen Smith, Robert E. Denton (Jr.), 2007 Sociological Abstracts, 1992 Interest Group Politics Allan J. Cigler, Burdett A. Loomis, 1998 A new edition of the classic collection of essays on organize and how interests seek to affect election results and public policies The new edition of this best selling reader features 18 original essays nearly all of them new to this edition by top scholars in the field to present multiple up to date perspectives on the formation inner workings and effectiveness of organized interests in politics This scholarly but most accessible collection gives readers a comprehensive picture of the formation of pressure groups their role in the electoral process and their influence in policy making The authors have revised and updated their excellent introductory chapter that offers an insightful summary of how interest group politics is changing and the impact to expect from these changes Investigating Subjectivity Carolyn Ellis, Michael Flaherty, 1992-03-10 Much has been missed by social researchers in their attempt to understand the human experience as a series of rational cognitive choices What comes under the rubric of lived experience fits no researcher's model other than in the words of one of the volume's contributors one damned thing after another Human subjectivity in lived experience both that of the subject and of the researcher is the topic of Investigating Subjectivity an important corrective to the cool disdainful stance of most previous social research The dozen contributors examine various aspects of subjectivity the emotions the gendered nature of experiences the body mind relationship perceptions of time place and setting understanding of the self and how these elements provide a fuller understanding of the human condition Incorporating subjectivity into research requires a new set of methods systematic introspection self ethnography staged readings poetry stories many of which are demonstrated in the book It also requires a focus on mundane minor ailments media images hobbies and extraordinary elements exotic trips earthquakes abortion experience which make up the bulk of lived experience and how people react to these life events Investigating Subjectivity stands out from any others in the field because the emphasis is on research rather than theory or conceptualization This outstanding volume is quality reading for academicians undergraduate and graduate students in sociology cultural studies qualitative methods and communication especially those interested in emotions narration textual analysis and symbolic interaction This is an unusual and intriguing book consisting of eleven articles and the authors excellent well written and probing introduction The book unflinchingly pursues subjectivity as an important and legitimate object of scientific research The writers challenge the continuing dominance of eighteenth century rationalism by challenging the contemporary social science model that transforms emotional experience into models of rational action Perspectives on Political Science The authors suggest that the volume be judged by whether it provokes feelings in the readers that they have lived or could live the experiences described This reviewer argues that the editors have succeeded in their goal this reviewer recommends the book to the rehabilitationist who is interested in either conducting research or the application of research to practice This is an appropriate tool for the rehabilitation professional Journal of Applied Rehabilitation Counseling This volume demonstrates an exciting reinvigoration of interactionism as it collides with phenomenology existential sociology and poststructuralism Contemporary Sociology
