This practical resource offers a classroom tested framework for secondary math teachers to support students who struggle. Teachers will explore an often overlooked piece of the math achievement puzzle: the gatekeeping cycles of mathematics and the importance of teachers' own expectations of students. The immediately applicable strategies in this book, developed through the author's work as a math intervention teacher, intervention specialist, and instructional coach, will give teachers the tools to help students overcome math anxiety, retention struggles, and even apathy. Beginning with a deep dive into the gatekeeping cycles to help teachers better understand their students who struggle, the book then walks teachers through the five-part BREAKit™ Math Intervention Framework: Build Community, Routines to Boost Confidence, Engage Every Student, Advance Your Expectations, Know Students' Level of Understanding. Educational research, personal anecdotes from the author's own classroom, and examples from case study teachers are woven into each chapter, leading to clear action items, planning strategies, and best practices that are accessible enough to accommodate all grade levels and schedules. The framework and activities in this book enable teachers to help students overcome math anxiety, create a safe math environment for 6-12 students, and ultimately increase achievement with effective research-based suggestions for working with students who struggle. Dramatic shifts in our communication landscape have made it crucial for language teaching to go beyond print literacy and encompass the digital literacies which are increasingly central to learners' personal, social, educational, and professional lives. By situating these digital literacies within a clear theoretical framework, this book provides educators and students alike with not just the background for a deeper understanding of these key 21st-century skills but also the rationale for integrating these skills into classroom practice. This is the first methodology book to address not just why but also how to teach digital literacies in the English language classroom. This book provides a theoretical framework through which to categorise and prioritise digital literacies. Practical classroom activities to help learners and teachers develop digital literacies in tandem with key language skills. A thorough analysis of the pedagogical implications of developing digital literacies in teaching practice. A consideration of exactly how to integrate digital literacies into the English language syllabus. Suggestions for teachers on how to continue their own professional development through PLNs (Personal Learning Networks) and how to access teacher development opportunities online. This book is ideal for English language teachers, English language learners of all ages and levels, academics, and researchers of all age groups and levels, academics, and students researching digital literacies, and anyone looking to expand their understanding of digital literacies within a teaching framework.

How do AI startups build trust in their smart service systems? Lobosch Pannewitz, 2018-11-29. Bachelor Thesis from the year 2017 in the subject Business economics. Company formation. Business Plans grade 1-3. Free University of Berlin. Fachbereich Wirtschaftswissenschaft. course Wirtschaftsinformatik. language English. abstract: The global economy is shifting labor from agriculture and manufacturing to services. Globe-spanning service based business models enabled by information technology IT and increasingly specialized businesses and professions have transformed our economies Service innovation is key in order to achieve growth for this more service focused than ever world economy to thrive Scholars recognize a need for new ways of value creation that can propel economic growth and the development of more effective services Vargo Maglio Akaka 2008 One answer to respond to that need is the reorganization of the production of services in so called service systems This approach is particularly useful for knowledge intensive industries and noticeable for example in the artificial intelligence AI industry a rapidly evolving hyper innovative ecosystem with new players coming up at frequent intervals AI startups offer their services through smart service systems or they try to make their customers and their own service systems smarter by adding AI services to the process of value co creation The industry heavily relies on software as a service SaaS business models which represent the ideal typical shift to a service dominant SD logic thinking When it comes to the acceptance of those new services trust is a vital concern While it has always been an important issue in services trust in smart service systems becomes crucial As AI startups service propositions are far from familiar to their potential clients they have got to go the extra mile to build trust in their smart service systems This paper will provide answers to the research question How do AI startups build trust in their smart service systems by applying the theory of trust to smart service systems and AI startups As website quality is an important trust building lever the research question will be answered by exploring trust building measures in a sample of 26 AI startups websites The major findings include that AI startups do not make their smart service systems as transparent as they could through their websites that showcasing recognition by third parties occurs mostly through inexpensive tools that are easy to implement and that all AI startups offer indirect channels to get in contact with them but less offer richer channels
