The International Responsibility of States for AI-enabled Space Activities Stefan-Michael Wedenig,2025-12-22

Artificial Intelligence AI has permeated our every day lives What once was solely a human task has now been taken over by AI May it be credit card approvals customer support financial transactions medical imaging or software development there is AI working behind the scenes Outer space historically always amongst the most developed domains has not remained untouched for long and space applications have started to increasingly rely on AI However this increase in use also leads to a myriad of legal issues particularly the issue of responsibility and liability under Article VI and Article VII of the Outer Space Treaty and the Liability Convention Our legal norms may they be domestic or international in nature are ultimately built around human behaviour and when applied to AI might not function Should damage caused by an AI enabled space object arise it proves difficult to assess the responsibility of the appropriate State party under Article VI of the Outer Space Treaty or the liability of the launching State While legal literature is primarily concerned with domestic legal issues arising from the use of AI an in depth analysis concerning State responsibility and liability for AI enabled space activities is absent Space legal literature strongly favours a view advocating for the creation of new hard law in form of new binding legal instruments or the amendment of existing law Suggestions de lege ferenda are often relied on by authors Given the inherent difficulty in creating new law or amend existing legal instruments this book proposes to look towards the lex lata and argues that the existing legal norms of State responsibility State liability and treaty law are sufficient to govern the responsibility of States for their AI enabled space activities The present research looks at these issues from a public international law perspective and proposes a solution within the lex lata

New Research Centers ,2001     Major Decisions Laurie Grobman,E. Michele Ramsey,2020-03-13 A practical how to guide for students and a powerful reminder of the value of a humanities education In recent decades the humanities have struggled to justify themselves in the American university The costs of attending a four year college have exploded resulting in intense pressure on students to major in STEM science technology engineering and mathematics business and other pre professional or practical majors that supposedly transmit more marketable skills than can be acquired from the humanities But as Laurie Grobman and E Michele Ramsey argue this vision of humanities majors idly pondering the meaning of life for four years is inaccurate Major Decisions demonstrates how choosing a major in the humanities is a worthwhile investment in a global economy that is shifting in the direction of college graduates who think broadly critically and ethically Indeed the core skills and knowledge imparted by an education in the humanities including facility with written and verbal communication collaboration problem solving technological literacy ethics leadership and an understanding of the human impacts of globalization are immensely useful to employers across a variety of sectors Major Decisions serves as a deeply informative guide to students and parents and provides a powerful reminder to employers and university administrators of the true value of an education in the humanities

The Fourth Intelligence Revolution Anthony Vinci,2025-10-28 A former senior intelligence officer reveals how espionage is being transformed by a new global intelligence race driven by AI and competition with China and how this impacts all of our lives The new global intelligence competition has brought espionage into our workplaces and our living rooms Adversaries like China Iran and Russia have realized that the human element is the weakest link in our industrial and political infrastructure As a result they target all of us stealing our financial data and medical records eavesdropping on our conversations and using platforms like TikTok and Hollywood movies to influence our opinions The Fourth Intelligence Revolution reveals how the undercover adventures of World War II the spy versus spy confrontations of the Cold War and the find fix and finish counterterrorism missions after 9 11 have given way to the most dangerous period of espionage yet This eye opening account exposes how intelligence now permeates every corner of society from economic espionage and genetic data gathering to information operations targeting children through AI chatbots even extending to reconnaissance on the far side of the moon Both a warning and a call to action The Fourth Intelligence Revolution suggests that we are all in essence becoming intelligence officers and that citizens have both the power and responsibility to reclaim intelligence to safeguard and strengthen our democracy
