Gayle S. Stever, David C. Giles, J. David Cohen, Mary E. Myers, 2025-07-23 Understanding Media Psychology is an authoritative introductory textbook on the growing field of media psychology. Providing an overview of topics in the field, it summarizes key concepts and theories and considers the importance of media psychology in today's society. The second edition of this bestselling textbook has been fully updated to reflect the changing landscape of media psychology. The new edition features a brand new chapter on news and political media as well as increased focus on AI and new forms of social media. It covers core areas such as positive media psychology, audience research, and the effect of gaming, violence, advertising, and pornography, critically engaging with contemporary discussions around propaganda, fake news, deepfakes, and how media and health psychology interacted during the COVID-19 pandemic and beyond. Written by a team of expert authors, this book will help readers understand the structures, influences, and theories around media psychology. Particular care is also given to addressing the interaction between issues of social justice and the media, as well as the effects media has on both the members of marginalized groups and how those groups are perceived. A student website and instructor resources provide further ways to engage with the content and support teaching and learning. Containing a range of pedagogical features throughout to aid teaching and student learning, including vocabulary and key terms, discussion questions, and boxed examples, this is an essential resource for media psychology courses at the undergraduate and introductory master's levels globally.

Innovations in Teaching and Learning for Health Professions Educators Roger Edwards, Bobbie Ann Adair White, Ardi Findyartini, 2025-06-02 The health professions continue to evolve and change rapidly as more opportunities and challenges emerge. Hence, health professions educators are required to be adaptive and nimble in their creation and adoption of teaching and learning innovations. These innovations have included teaching with technologies like virtual reality, gamification, online applications, and artificial intelligence. Innovations also include know-how such as emotional intelligence and ways of approaching the learning process through student-centered learning experiences grounded in the cognitive science of learning. Scholarship related to identification of the best uses of different innovations is difficult. The same innovations have proven to be engaging in some contexts and burdensome in others. Additionally, simulation-based education continues to incorporate innovations in how health professions educators are taught, with more focus on effectiveness of the simulation educator, including applications with distance simulation. Training and development for health professions and simulation educators is becoming more formalized, yet gaps on effectiveness of training and development efforts persist. Faculty effectiveness, especially as it relates to educational innovation adoption, is difficult to measure, and demonstration of related competencies is in its infancy. The goal of this Research Topic is to bring together state-of-the-art examples of scholarship in health professions education related to the awareness and appropriate adoption of innovation, which is broadly defined as an idea, practice, technology, and know-how. Evidence about the current state of emerging innovations, effectiveness of innovations, and evidence about the competencies needed for teaching in our evolving environments are all areas of interest for this collection All types of scholarship can support this focus including analyses based on primary quantitative and qualitative data collection secondary data analyses literature reviews and methodological infrastructure tool development Additionally scholarship investigating how these innovations have influenced health professions educators including their training and development is part of the goal of the collection The scope of this collection covers any innovations that are applicable to professional development and implementation for health professions educators More specifically we invite scholarship related to how educators prepare themselves for meeting the needs of their students given the changing roles and innovations available to both faculty and students across learning environments worldwide Examples of topics of interest include Analyses of innovation related to the evolving roles of health professions educators Reviews of educational innovation adoption by health professions education faculty especially related to artificial intelligence linked applications Exploring factors associated with professional development training and effective educational innovation adoption by faculty Simulation based educational innovation applications for faculty development Faculty innovation in resource constrained environments in low and middle income countries Methodological challenges associated with studying educational innovations by faculty in health professions education and critical research needs associated with generating and evaluating educational innovations Methodological considerations associated with health professions education faculty competencies Theoretically focused analyses are welcome as long as they are linked to applications Choice ,1985
