Transmedia/Genre Matthew Freeman, Anthony N. Smith, 2023-02-05 This book brings genre back to the forefront of the current transmedia trend Genres are perhaps the most innately transmedial of media constructs formed as they are from all kinds of industrial technological and discursive phenomena Yet few have considered how genre works in a multiplatform context This book does precisely that making a uniquely transmedial contribution to the study of genre in the age of media convergence The book interrogates how industrial technological and participatory transformations of digital platforms and emerging technologies reshape workings of genre The authors consider franchises such as Star Wars streaming platforms such as Netflix catch up services such as ITV Hub creative technologies such as virtual reality and beyond In setting the stage for the revival of genre theory in contemporary transmedia scholarship this book pushes forward understandings of multiplatform media and the emerging form and function of genre across contemporary culture The Older Person's Guide to New Stuff

Mark Leigh, 2019-06-06 STRUGGLING TO STAY IN TOUCH WITH ELDERLY PARENTS DURING THE LOCKDOWN WANTING TO HELP ISOLATED RELATIVES WITH ONLINE ORDERING THIS IS THE PERFECT GUIDE FOR ANYONE GRAPPLING FOR THE FIRST TIME WITH FACETIME GOOGLE HANGOUTS OR ANY OTHER ASPECT OF THE MODERN WORLD A handy guide for anyone who says The Facebook or The Google or who asks Do they deliver emails on Sunday This is a book for the elderly and not so elderly who are bamboozled not just by the technology of the contemporary world but also various modern concepts and conceits that the more youthful take for granted It explains a host of modern concepts and technologies that have entered everyday use and parlance but which are alien and possibly frightening not just to the elderly but probably also to anyone over 45 These concepts are universal and should therefore appeal to readers in the UK Australia US and Europe The definitions are all real but entertaining making use of easy to understand real world references or examples to explain them

Sound and Affect Judith Lochhead, Eduardo Mendieta, Stephen Decatur Smith, 2021-04-23 Studies of affect and emotions have blossomed in recent decades across the humanities neurosciences and social sciences In music scholarship they have often built on the discipline's attention to what music theorists since the Renaissance have described as music's unique ability to arouse passions in listeners In this timely volume the editors seek to combine this affective turn with the sound turn in the humanities which has profitably shifted attention from the visual to the aural as well as a more recent philosophical turn in music studies Accordingly the volume maps out a new territory for research at the intersection of music philosophy and sound studies The essays in Sound and Affect look at objects and experiences in which correlations of sound and affect reside in music and beyond the voice as it speaks stutters cries or sings music whether vocal instrumental or electronic our sonic environments whether natural or man made and our responses to them As argued here far from being stable correlations of sound and affect are influenced by factors as diverse as race class gender and social and political experience Examining these factors is key to the project which gathers contributions from a cross disciplinary roster of scholars including both established as well as a wealth of new voices The essays are grouped thematically into sections that move from politics and ethics to reflections on pre and post human musicking to the notions of affective listening and music temporalities to are examination of historical understandings of music and affect This agenda setting collection will prove indispensable to anyone interested in innovative approaches to the study of sound and its many intersection with affect and emotions

Life after New Media Sarah Kember, Joanna Zylinska, 2014-12-05 An argument for a shift in understanding new media from a fascination with devices to an examination of the complex processes of mediation In Life after New Media Sarah Kember and Joanna Zylinska make a case for a significant shift in our understanding of new media They argue that we should move beyond our fascination with objects computers smart phones iPods Kindles to an examination of the interlocking technical social and biological processes of mediation Doing so they say reveals that life itself can be understood as mediated subject to the same processes of reproduction transformation flattening and patenting undergone by other media forms By Kember and Zylinska s account the dispersal of media and technology into our biological and social lives intensifies our entanglement with nonhuman entities Mediation all encompassing and indivisible becomes for them a key trope for understanding our being in the technological world Drawing on the work of Bergson and Derrida while displaying a rigorous playfulness toward philosophy Kember and Zylinska examine the multiple flows of mediation Importantly they also consider the ethical necessity of making a cut to any media processes in order to contain them Considering topics that range from media enacted cosmic events to the intelligent home they propose a new way of doing media studies that is simultaneously critical and creative and that performs an encounter between theory and practice

Russian Strategic Narratives on the Chinese Internet Rui Wang, 2025-12-31 This book challenges the notion that strategic narratives which carry soft power significance are seamlessly projected to audiences It offers the first book length critical analysis of the non linear dissemination of strategic narratives in the digital age focusing on social media Through a case study of a Chinese state aligned outlet s mediation of Russian broadcaster RT s videos and their remediation by Chinese social media users danmu comments on Bilibili it reveals disruptions by participatory media agents including outlets and audiences These multilayered mediations driven by political and commercial agendas or online practices yield unexpected benefits and challenges for narrative producers The book s main argument is that state actors have little control over the dissemination of the strategic narratives they project in the digital age The dissemination paths of these narratives are non linear and involve multilayered mediations imposed by other political actors for their own political and commercial agendas as well as mediations introduced by participatory audiences who impose their own online practices conventions and rituals onto the narratives A major intervention in the study of soft power projection through public diplomacy in the online era and the emerging geopolitical alliance between Russia and China this interdisciplinary book will be of interest to researchers in the fields of Media Studies Russia China relations Political Communication Digital Culture and Studies of Russian politics and
