Work Less Jon Peirce, 2024-01-02 You can't have a healthy economy with an unhealthy work force. Work Less proposes ways to reduce work hours and keep workers happier, healthier, and more productive. Recent years have revealed just how stressed out many workers are. While the trend to longer hours has been developing for several decades, the trend's effects have been aggravated during the pandemic by the growing use of Zoom and other new technologies for meetings with clients, customers, and co-workers. Exhausted and fed up, today's workers are starting to insist on shorter hours and greater flexibility as to where they do their work. There is growing consensus that the forty-hour week, the norm since the 1940s, has outlived its usefulness. And there is an urgent need for new work schedules that adequately reflect the far greater intensity of work today as well as the greater family demands on a labour force made up of almost fifty percent women who bear the brunt of domestic duties. Work Less offers practical scheduling suggestions to employers and workers and numerous policy options for government policy makers to improve working conditions.

Co-Design of Rehabilitation Programming Janelle Unger, James Middleton, John Bourke, Dalton L. Wolfe, 2025-01-14 Co-Design is an approach used in healthcare that integrates patient and care partner experiences into service and program development and delivery. Co-design involves both users and healthcare professionals or researchers working together to identify opportunities for improvement, set goals, evaluate progress, and outcomes, and reflect on processes. Implementing a co-design process improves person-centered care and results in positive outcomes for both patients and staff. Research in this area has increased significantly over the previous 15 years; however, much of this work has been focused on primary care. It is important to focus on the use of co-design in rehabilitation settings, specifically due to the unique goals of these programs. The goal of this Research Topic is to highlight the use of co-design in rehabilitation programming and to value the knowledge and experience of those with lived experience who use rehabilitation services. The insights gained will provide a foundation for future rehabilitation program development.

Joy at Work Steve Ahnael Nobel, 2023-04-11 Fun and practical guide to finding joy in your work by applying Buddhist values from MBS Moyer and Shaker Steve Nobel. With growing numbers of people feeling discontented at work in a post-pandemic era of the great resignation, Joy at Work offers essential reading. Whether you are feeling aimless and bored, only hanging on for the monthly wage, stressed, overworked, or burnt out, this book offers a simple philosophy: suffering happens, but we can transform it. Using Buddhist principles, Steve Nobel guides us to realising our innate gifts and reconnecting us with our authentic selves. By working through practical exercises and calming meditations, you can learn to trust your instincts, reframe your limiting beliefs, rediscover your creativity, create coping strategies for when you're stressed, renew your love for work. The world of work is evolving, and Steve prompts you to change with it, transform your happy/unprofessional life into one of self-worth, passion, and purpose. Let loose your trapped potential to find the work you were born to do, whether that is falling back in love with your job or moving on and finding different work that inspires you.
