Enhancing Geriatric Care: International Collaboration and Best Practices for Aging

Populations Peter Crome, Esther-Lee Marcus, Marios Kyriazis, 2025-10-28 Geriatric Medicine has emerged as a crucial field since its inception in the mid twentieth century by Marjory Warren in England. This area of healthcare focuses on the unique needs of the aging population which is rapidly increasing worldwide. While some countries have developed comprehensive geriatric care systems including specialized medical professionals, community services and palliative care, others are still grappling with the challenges of providing adequate services for their elderly citizens. The disparity in geriatric care across different nations highlights the need for a global exchange of knowledge and strategies. Recent studies have shown that countries with well established geriatric care systems can serve as models for those still developing their services. However, there remains a significant gap in understanding how these successful frameworks can be adapted and implemented in diverse cultural and economic contexts. Addressing this gap is essential for ensuring that all aging populations receive the care and support they need. This research topic aims to explore and document the diverse structures and developments of geriatric care across different countries. By examining the aging demographics, availability of specialized healthcare professionals and existing services, this research seeks to identify best practices and innovative strategies that can be shared globally. The objective is to foster a collaborative environment where countries can learn from each other's experiences, ultimately leading to improved geriatric care worldwide. Key questions include: how can countries with less developed systems enhance their geriatric care, and what role can international collaboration play in this process? To gather further insights into the global landscape of geriatric care, we welcome Original Research, Review, Mini review, Case Report, Clinical Trial and Opinion articles addressing but not limited to the following themes: The country specific aging structure of the population, An overview of professional and academic healthcare providers, Structure of healthcare services for the older patient, Country specific challenges and future planning and developments, Examples of countries with well established geriatric care systems which served as models for countries still developing their services. By sharing research and insights, we aim to build a comprehensive body of work that significantly advances progress in geriatric care, ensuring that all elderly individuals receive the support and services they deserve.

The Russia Scare Richard Sakwa, 2022-07-08 The Russia Scare assesses the scope, character and extent of Russian interference in the affairs of liberal democratic states. This book examines the Russia scare in a dynamic manner, stressing the interaction between threat perception, responses and subsequent policies. What forms did this threat take? What were the instruments used? How effective were the deployed tools and who were the allies with whom Russia worked in these endeavours? Above all, what impact did interference have on target societies? The book explores why Russia engaged in such activities, what the probable chain of command was, if any, and the role of the Russian leadership in all of this, as well as investigating the response of Western societies and governments. The author sifts the real from the imagined, which can only be achieved by establishing the larger historical context. He scrutinises the fundamental question: was Russia before the invasion of Ukraine in 2022 really engaged in a sustained hybrid warfare?

campaign to sow discord and undermine Western democracies If so what were the strategic purposes underlying such an activity Various hypotheses are analysed notably that Russian post Cold War activity is nothing exceptional in the context of great power confrontation that all great powers are engaged in one way or another in such actions and thus contextualisation is important and that Russia s subversive activity was often exaggerated even misrepresented Responses potentially amplified the elements of subversion represented by the original threat Threats exist but responses always need to be calibrated so as not to inflict self harm on the integrity of liberal democracy itself This book will be of great interest to students scholars and academics of international relations comparative politics security and defence studies global governance and Russian politics as well as politicians political advisers NGOs diplomats and journalists Machine
