Copper Bioavailability and Metabolism C Kies, 2012-12-06 Nutrition is truly a science of the 20th century That physiological disabilities could be caused by a lack of exogenous substances which could be supplied by foods is a concept of relatively recent origins It is not surprising therefore that until the last few years much of nutritional science research was tied to 1 establishing a cause and effect relationship between a physiological problem and its cure prevention by a chemical substance in food 2 quantifying the amount of the substance nutrient needed to prevent deficiency symptoms and 3 quantifying the amounts of nutrients found in various food substances That a nutrient might be present in apparently adequate amounts in foods consumed by an individual but could not be fully utilized because of the concurrent consumption of anti nutrients has been recognized as being an important problem as for example iodine deficiency goiters resulting from consumption of goitrogens That less specific less dramatic interactions among nutrients and among nutrients and other food components might enhance or inhibit the absorption of nutrients from the intestines or of the metabolism of nutrients within the body is an area of current concern

Metal Ions in Neurological Systems Wolfgang Linert, Henryk Kozlowski, 2012-10-16 Metal ions in the brain are a necessity as well as a poison The presence of metal ions in the active sites of biological catalysts or metalloproteins and in the biological functioning of nucleic acids is very well documented and they are required for brain activity On the other hand metals are very effective in generating oxidative stress This effect does not only play a role in immunology but also is the root of practically all neurodegenerative disorders by inducing disease via the death of neurons Managing metal ions in the brain could therefore be an important strategy in the search for therapeutic agents used in the treatment of neurodegenerative diseases This new title gives an overview to key topics in the area of metal ions in the brain It focuses on the role of metal ions in neurological systems by describing their advantageous functions as well as their poisonous features It is therefore of interest for scientists in biochemistry and biophysics physiology toxicology as well as for physicians focused on this topic     Agrindex ,1995     Applied Nuclear Physics at Accelerators Marco Durante,Vincenzo Patera,Yolanda Prezado,2021-07-14     Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress,1996
