Cops Crime Fighting Time:

The Mythology of Crime and Criminal Justice Victor E. Kappeler, Gary W. Potter, 2017-07-18 The social construction of crime is often out of proportion to the threat posed The media and advocacy groups shine a spotlight on some crimes and ignore others Street crime is highlighted as putting everyone at risk of victimization while the greater social harms from corporate malfeasance receive far less attention Social arrangements dictate what is defined as crime and the punishments for those who engage in the proscribed behavior Interest groups promote their agendas by appealing to public fears Justifications often have no basis in fact but the public accepts the exaggerations and blames the targeted offenders The net widening effect of more laws and more punishment catches those least able to defend themselves This innovative alternative to traditional textbooks provides insightful observations of myths and trends in criminal justice Fourteen chapters challenge misconceptions about specific crimes or aspects of the criminal justice system Kappeler and Potter dissect popular images of crimes and criminals in a cogent compelling and engaging manner They trace the social construction of each issue and identify the misleading statistics and fears that form the basis of myths and the collateral damage of basing policies on mythical beliefs The authors encourage skepticism about commonly accepted beliefs offer readers a fresh perspective and urge them to analyze important issues from novel vantage points

Stop and Search and Police Legitimacy Ben Bradford, 2017-01-06 Stop and search is a form of police citizen interaction that is confrontational often stressful for those involved and potentially damaging to the relationship between police and public The extent to which police officers use their power to stop and perhaps search members of the public is intimately linked not only to the present day context of policing but also to longer term patterns in the aims of policing the ends used to achieve them and ultimately to the ideology of policing in England and Wales Stop and Search and Police Legitimacy draws upon both police administrative and survey based data to examine what has for many years been one of the most highly charged and contested aspects of police practice Taking a decidedly quantitative empirical approach this book examines the patterning of police stops over social and geographic space the problem of ethnic disproportionality and the evidence concerning how people experience and react to being stopped by police particularly in relation to issues of fairness legitimacy cooperation and compliance A further important concern is the extent to which this form of police practice shapes and re shapes the identities of those affected by it This ground breaking study is a comprehensive resource for students and scholars in the fields of criminology sociology social policy ethnic and racial studies and human rights It will also be of special interest to police leaders and policy makers Video Source Book Gale Group,1999-10-28 A guide to programs currently available on video in the areas of movies entertainment general interest education sports recreation fine arts health science business industry children juvenile how to instruction police officer Journal of Police Science and Administration ,1985 Impossible Jobs in Public Management Erwin C. Hargrove, John C. Glidewell, 1990 If you think your job is hopelessly difficult you may be right Particularly if your job is public administration Those who study or practice public management know full well the difficulties faced by administrators of complex bureaucratic systems What they don't know is why some jobs in the public sector are harder than others and how good managers cope with those jobs Drawing on leadership theory and social psychology Erwin Hargrove and John Glidewell provide the first systematic analysis of the factors that determine the inherent difficulty of public management jobs and of the coping strategies employed by successful managers To test their argument Hargrove and Glidewell focus on those jobs fraught with extreme difficulties impossible jobs What differentiates impossible from possible jobs are 1 the publicly perceived legitimacy of the commissioner's clientele 2 the intensity of the conflict among the agency's constituencies 3 the public's confidence in the authority of the commissioner's profession and 4 the strength of the agency's myth or long term idealistic goal Hargrove and Glidewell flesh out their analysis with six case studies that focus on the roles played by leaders of specific agencies Each essay summarizes the institutional strengths and weaknesses specifies what makes the job impossible and then compares the skills and strategies that incumbents have employed in coping with such jobs Readers will come away with a thorough understanding of the conflicting social psychological and political forces that act on commissioners in impossible jobs
