C, a Software Engineering Approach Peter A. Darnell, Philip E. Margolis, 1991 Software Product Lines Gary J. Chastek, 2003-08-02 Software product lines are emerging as an important new paradigm for software development Product lines are enabling organizations to achieve impressive time to market gains and cost reductions In 1997 we at the Software Engineering Institute SEI launched a Product Line Practice Initiative Our vision was that product line development would be a low risk high return proposition for the entire software engineering community It was our hope from the beginning that there would eventually be sufficient interest to hold a conference The First Software Product Line Conference SPLC1 was the realization of that hope Since SPLC1 we have seen a growing interest in software product lines Companies are launching their own software product line initiatives product line technical and business practices are maturing product line tool vendors are emerging and books on product lines are being published Motivated by the enthusiastic response to SPLC1 and the increasing number of software product lines and product line researchers and practitioners the SEI is proud to sponsor this second conference dedicated to software product lines We were gratified by the submissions to SPLC2 from all parts of the globe from government and commercial organizations From these submissions we were able to assemble a rich and varied conference program with unique opportunities for software product line novices experts and those in between This collection represents the papers selected from that response and includes research and experience reports Software Engineering Approaches for Offshore and Outsourced Development Olly Gotel, Mathai Joseph, Bertrand Meyer, 2009-07-01

SEAFOOD 2009 Enabling Global Partnerships to Deliver on Business Needs Companies have been outsourcing areas of software development work for many years either because of the engineering challenges or because the outsourced aspect is not central to their core business A profound transformation has been affecting this model over recent years a massive transfer of development activities from the USA and Europe to a skilled labor force in service providing countries This transformation has been driven by the demands of a global business climate seeking to increase the value delivery of IT investment However the ability to realize this value can prove problematic in practice Of particular concern are the hidden costs of globally distributed models of working such as understanding and communicating the true business needs across organizational and cultural boundaries To address such issues offshore outsourcing requires different support from in house development and this means adapting familiar techniques processes and tools to this setting as well as perhaps creating innovative new ones Coupled with this industry transformation there is hence a pressing need to re-examine those software engineering approaches that either facilitate or impede this model of working With an inevitable focus on the economy in 2009 business decisions regarding the sourcing of software development projects will come under close scrutiny It will become increasingly critical to design global partnerships that both clarify cost benefits and enable delivery on business needs
