Leadership for World-Class Universities Philip G. Altbach, 2011-07-21 Leadership for World Class Universities reveals how world-class thinking and policy can help university leaders employ modern solutions to the challenges facing higher education today. Readers will benefit from best practice advice offered by distinguished international contributors who have excelled by thinking globally without losing sight of their respective national and local environments. Their essays are grounded in empirical research and written to engage the reader, stimulate reflection, and enhance performance. This book focuses especially on developing and middle income countries which face special problems where higher education is expanding most rapidly. Key themes include strategic planning, governance of academic institutions, the role of the academic profession, fundraising, student access and equity, the impact of globalization. Leadership for World Class Universities is a valuable resource for senior university administrators. At the heart of this volume is a focus on how academic leaders can work towards resolving the complex issues facing universities today. Optimizing Nitrogen Management in Food and Energy Production and Environmental Protection J. Galloway, C. Jordan, Joe Wisniewski, J.W. Erisman, E.

Cowling, 2002-01-01 The production of food and energy interfere with the natural nitrogen cycle of the earth. Many of these changes are beneficial while others are detrimental to societies and the environment. The changing nature of nitrogen in the global environment crosses scientific disciplines, geographical boundaries, and political divisions and challenges the creative minds of natural and social scientists, economists, engineers, business leaders, and planners. The papers in this book give readers a panoramic view of the changing nature of reactive nitrogen in the global environment, enabling them to make better choices about nitrogen management in food production and consumption, energy production and use, and environmental protection.
