George Saintsbury, 2013-09. This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1895 edition. Excerpt XXII. MR RUSKIN concluded ENOUGH must have been said in the last paper of the singular weaknesses and contradictions which meet us everywhere in Mr Ruskin. It remains to say something of their probable causes and of the merits which accompany and as I think far outweigh them everywhere but in his dabbings with economics. The sources of Mr Ruskin's peculiarities both in merit and defect appear to me to have lain as usual in his nature and to have been developed as usual by his education. This latter as in the case of that other eccentric Camberwell man Mr Browning was of a home-keeping and haphazard kind very different from the usual upbringing of well-to-do middle-class youth in England. It is true that Mr Ruskin unlike Mr Browning went to a University though like him he went to no school and his comparative chastity of form may be partly ascribed to this frequentation of the Muses. But Christ Church which does not like to be called a college at all is even now probably the college of both Universities in which the University and strictly speaking collegiate influences are weakest while for a gentleman-commoner in Mr Ruskin's time they were weaker still. The shaping moulding training influence of the ordinary English liberal education has been abused as well as lauded and I suppose that it may to a certain extent and in certain cases act as a cramp and a restraint but it certainly acts in a far greater number as a beneficial discipline. Discipline is what Mr Ruskin has always lacked as well in methods of expression as in the serene self-confidence which has enabled him to deliver himself on any and every subject without any suspicion that he is talking ill-informed nonsense. Discipline. Oxford.      Corrected Impressions George Saintsbury, 2015-07-09. Excerpt from Corrected Impressions: Essays on Victorian Writers. These Critical Notes differ a little in scheme and aim from anything that their writer has hitherto attempted. The shape which they take was partly suggested as is observed in one of them by some remarks of Mr A J Balfour s at the Literary Fund Dinner of 1893 in London It occurred to me then that a kind of foreshortened review of the impressions and the corrections of them which the great Victorian writers had produced or undergone in my own case during the last thirty years might not be an absolutely uninteresting sample of how it has struck a contemporary About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Corrected impressions George Saintsbury,1972 The Chautauquan ,1911
