The Irish Voice in America Charles Fanning, 2014-07-11 In this study Charles Fanning has written the first general account of the origins and development of a literary tradition among American writers of Irish birth or background who have explored the Irish immigrant or ethnic experience in works of fiction The result is a portrait of the evolving fictional self consciousness of an immigrant group over a span of 250 years Fanning traces the roots of Irish American writing back to the eighteenth century and carries it forward through the traumatic years of the Famine to the present time with an intensely productive period in the twentieth century beginning with James T Farrell Later writers treated in depth include Edwin O Connor Elizabeth Cullinan Maureen Howard and William Kennedy Along the way he places in the historical record many all but forgotten writers including the prolific Mary Ann Sadlier The Irish Voice in America is not only a highly readable contribution to American literary history but also a valuable reference to many writers and their works For this second edition Fanning has added a chapter that covers the fiction of the past decade He argues that contemporary writers continue to draw on Ireland as a source and are important chroniclers of the modern American experience

From the Sin-é Café to the Black Hills Eamonn Wall, 1999 Eamonn Wall arrived in the United States in the 1980s as part of a wave of young educated immigrants who became known as the New Irish In this book he comments on his own experiences and those of his generation who identify as much with contemporary ethnic and immigrant America as they do with the long settled Irish American community Wall's starting point is the now closed Sin Caf in New York's East Village which was a hangout in the early 1990s for expatriate Irish musicians actors and writers He comments on the poetry fiction essays and memoirs of both the New Irish and Americans of Irish heritage locating them within a literary and historical context But this is also a deeply personal book in which Wall wrestles with his own identity as an Irishman living in America raising his children as Americans and learning to love the American landscape from the streets of Manhattan to the western hills of Nebraska
